LETTER FROM BISHOP PILLA ABOUT DIOCESAN FINANCES

Bishop Pilla sent a letter to all priests outlining the various steps that he has taken this past year to assure trust in the fiscal operations of the diocese. They include hiring a new Chief Financial Officer and new General Counsel, restructuring the Finance Office, and establishing a Conflict of interest policy. He concludes his letter by stating: “It is with gratitude that I am able to report that the Diocese of Cleveland remains on a solid financial foundation, as will soon be confirmed by the annual audit. Revenues, including parish collections, are above recent historical averages, and controls over expenditures have been significantly strengthened.” The full text can be found on-line at www.dioceseofcleveland.org.

Wait Until Next Time

Dr. Elzbieta Ulanowska left her dolls surrounded by pillows. Her mind was cushioned as well – from stark reality- a task necessary to be able to hope and live. The pillows didn’t cushion her dolls enough. The ruins from her family home after the Warsaw Uprising that August back in 1944 killed them. She survived the tragedy and now shares her life and artistic talents with all of humanity.

Such was one of the stories presented at the John Paul II Cultural Center’s commemoration of the 1944 Warsaw Uprising last weekend. Terrorism had nor has a specific season, but it seems impossible to escape its involvement in our histories especially at this time of the year. Warsaw experienced it that August and September – and for many years before and afterward. We experienced it three years ago for a day. The whole world gets a taste of it regularly.

We get frightened and then we pull out the cushions to disguise our reality. Why think about murder and pain and suffering and inhumanity when we can pull out our cushions, our opiates, our televisions and martinis and casino chips?

Those cushions have really been getting a workout lately. Last Saturday when a small band of humans (about 25) gathered to pray for the millions of victims of terrorism, the customary cushions were left behind. The Cross took center stage. We all tried to remember the victims - dolls, dreams, humans - and to place them on the Cross, to share in its glory.

I don’t know what was on the minds of all the people who didn’t come to share in our prayer service, but I guess they’re just going to wait until next time.

HOW'S IT GOING?

This is one of the most common greetings people give each other — and one that we seldom actually mean. After all, what would happen if, when we ask someone in passing, they were actually to stop us in our tracks and engage us in a long answer about exactly how they were doing? Maybe it would be the last time we ask them!

Every year at the end of the summer, the bishop asks the same question of every parish in the diocese. Our answer comes in the form of a report called the "Status Animarum." This is Latin for "The State of the Souls." In other words, "How's it going?" It is an objective report, to be sure, looking only at verifiable factors like the numbers of baptism, deaths, marriages, etc. It is, however, an interesting snapshot of our life over the past few years. Here is a glimpse of our parish in the new millennium. Numbers are for the period ending in August of the year indicated.

Year:	2000	2001	2002	2003	2004
Registered Persons:	2348	2216	2127	2850	2400
Households:	1320	1406	1515	1500	1298
Avg. Mass Attendance:	1058	821	?	938	984
School Enrollment	316	285	298	330	327
Baptisms	49	68	30	37	33
First Communion	33	42	16	34	20
Confirmations	30	33	27	33	25
Marriages	43	36	27	20	13
Deaths	78	90	70	78	76

Of course, this only measures statistics that can be recorded in a book. There is, of course, a more important measure — the measure of the heart and soul of the place. When Bishop Pilla was with us for Mass on September 8, he took a little extra time to have dinner with the priests here. Before Fr. Kim and Fr. Jerzy came into the kitchen, the first question he asked me was, "Michael, how is the parish doing?"

I won't tell you my answer. Instead, I'll ask you to reflect on the same question yourself. If the bishop were to come to your house for dinner, sitting informally at the kitchen table, and ask you that question, how would you answer?

Seriously.

Our Parish Pastoral Council spent a whole day last month reflecting on this very question and coming up with the beginning of a plan and hope for the parish community. In a few months, the diocese will invite all the parishes to reflect on the quality of their stewardship — the sharing of time, talent, and treasure in support of our common mission. We will be asked to identify what we love about our parish as well as what we should be doing more effectively. At the same time, we will also be asked to make decisions about how to use the resources God has given us in order to maintain what we have and to grow even more as disciples of Jesus in service of the world around us.

But before we make plans for what we should be doing, and how we are going to plan to make it actually happen, we have to ask the first things first: "How's it going?"

Fr. Michael

ROZTROPNOŚĆ i UCZCIWOŚĆ

W życiu niełatwo zsynchronizować te dwie cnoty. Starożytni mawiali: cokolwiek czynisz, czyn roztropnie i patrz końca. Pan pochwalil nieuczciwego rzadce, ze roztropnie postapil. Bo synowie tego swiata rozropniejsi sa w stosunkach z ludzmi podobnymi sobie niz synowie swiatla" (Łk 16,8).

W ewangelicznej przypowieści o nieuczciwym rzadcy pochwalona zostaje roztropność, a nie nieuczciwość. Rządca wiedział, że kończy się czas dysponowania majątkiem jego pana, gdy tego doszły słuchy o niegospodarności zarządcy. Zostaje wezwany, by zdać sprawę ze swego zarządu. Boi się i utraty pracy, i przyszłości. To, co czyni wobec dłużników pana, jest nieuczciwe, ale w oczach ludzi jemu podobnych rozropnie.

Czym jest rozropność? Pismo Święte nazywa ją dość często mądrością. Jest jednak rozropność "synów tego świata" i rozropność "synów światłości". Świat postrzega postępowanie uczniów Chrystusa jako mało rozropne. Już św. Paweł zauważył, że fakt krzyża ma dla niektórych ludzi wymowę "głupstwa". "Stalimy się bowiem widowiskiem światu, aniołom i ludziom my, głupi dla Chrystusa..." (1Kor 4,9). Oczywiście, istnieje rozropność jako tzw. mądrość życiowa i ja to pochwalil Jezus. Taka postawa prezentuje przenikliwość i przewidywanie.

Prawdopodobnie sens Chrystusowej pochwały zmierza w tym kierunku, aby zwrócić uwagę człowieka na właściwy użytek dóbr, który powinien polegać na pozyskiwaniu sobie nimi przyjaciół, na działaniu dla korzyści bliźniego. Nie możemy przeznaczyć dóbr tylko na nasz własny użytek. Zarządca z przypowieści, myślał o przyszłości i przygotowywał ją sobie. Bo dobra ziemskie nie są po to, żeby je egoistycznie konsumować i uczynić sobie na tym świecie piękne, wygodne życie, są po to, żeby ich używać z myślą o przyszłości, zgodnie z wolą Bożą, czyli powinny te dobra obracać się także na korzyść naszego bliźniego. W przypowieści Jezus mówi przede wszystkim o dobrach materialnych. Ale chodzi również o wszystkie inne dobra ziemskie, takie jak zdolności duchowe, talenty, wykształcenie. Jezus wymaga od uczniów bystrości i przezorności. Dlatego też jako pierwsza rzecz piętnuje taki stosunek do dóbr ziemskich, który ma na uwadze tylko chwilę bieżącą. Bo nie jest przezornością roztrwonienie tych dóbr dla doraznej przyjemności. Poza tym Jezus wyznacza zakres właściwy dla naszego stosunku do dóbr ziemskich. Błędem jest przyznanie własnemu „ja” prawa do niezależnego dysponowania dobrami. „Ja i moje dobra” nie mogą być zamkniętym światem. Pan Bóg i inni ludzie są bowiem decydującym odniesieniem dla świata dóbr. Nie jesteśmy pełnoprawnymi gospodarzami, ale tylko zarządcami naszych dóbr. Nie możemy ich zamykać przed naszymi bliźnimi, ale mamy je spożytkować także dla jego korzyści. Jedynie wtedy, gdy nie tracimy z oczu całego zakresu pochodzenia i przeznaczenia dóbr, możemy postępować rozropnie i zapewnić sobie przyszłość wieczną, nie zapominając o doczesnej.

FAITHFUL CITIZENSHIP 2004

As we approach the elections of 2004, we renew our call for a new kind of politics—focused on moral principals not on the latest polls, on the needs of the poor and vulnerable not the contributions of the rich and powerful, and on the pursuit of the common good not the demands of special interest.

The following poem was sent by a friar poet in honor of those who died on September 11th, 2001, and for all victims of violence, including soldiers on every side, in every war. It was written by World War I poet Wilfred Owen.

ASLEEP

Under his helmet, up against his pack,
After so many days of work and waking,
Sleep took him by the brow and laid him back.

There, in the happy no-time of his sleeping,
Death took him by the heart. There heaved a quaking
Of the aborted life within him leaping,
Then chest and sleepy arms once more fell slack.

And soon the slow, stray blood came creeping
From the intruding lead, like ants on track.

Whether his deeper sleep lie shaded by the shaking
Of great wings, and the thoughts that hung the stars,
High-pillowed on calm pillows of God's making,
Above these clouds, these rains, these sleets of lead,
And these winds' scimitars,
—Or whether yet his thin and sodden head
Confuses more and more with the low mould,
His hair being one with the grey grass
Of finished fields, and wire-scraggs rusty-old,
Who knows? Who hopes? Who troubles? Let it pass!
He sleeps. He sleeps less tremulous, less cold,
Than we who wake, and waking say Alas!
