Lacryma Christi

To all of you oenophiles out there, no, I'm not going to concern myself with the wine by that name right now. The actual tears of Christ are what I have on my mind; the tears that eventually became His blood; the blood which saturated the earth of Jerusalem.

Jesus, no doubt, cried as an infant wanting milk, as a child wanting attention, as a teenager trying to understand the meaning of things. He may have cried when he washed the feet of the apostles before His passion. He may have cried after he instituted the Eucharist, offering His body and His blood to the friends that would soon shun Him.

He cried in the garden of Olives and, there, He cried blood. The sacrifice began at the supper now mingled directly with the earth as His blood sunk into the planet. His tears mingled with His blood as He was scourged. His tears rolled down His sacred face before His final breath. They, too, fell to the earth, to cover humanity, to save its soul and to pierce the gates of Hell.

The holy Land on which Jesus shed those tears of water and blood is sacred. I believe this as do all of you. This weekend, I am taking on a special challenge, an honor bestowed upon me at the recommendation of Bishop Pilla, Fr. Michael and Knights of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem – I am being made one of them, A Knight of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem. Along with the honor to me, and to our parish – to have been chosen to be included in this august society – comes the challenge of a new focus on the land that absorbed the tears of Jesus. We are so numbed by the countless pictures of genocide in the Holy Land, so saturated with the reports of suicide bombings, that it seems impossible to think of that land as the sacred thing that it is! The deplorable situation, which we have in that part of the world, cannot ever diminish the supreme sacredness, which is its inheritance. The Holy Land remains holy. The evil, which forever tries to challenge that fact, is conquerable. This is the belief of the Knights, a belief I share, a belief which cannot be compromised.

As I enter into this new sphere of activity, I ask that you pray for me, that the Holy Spirit forever breathe on me with His gifts to help me live up to this honor. I thank you all for those prayers, and I ask you to join me always in thanking God for all His love. Pray for peace in Jerusalem.

THANK YOU

ONE MONTH FROM NOW...

...we will be ready to move into the newly restored and renovated rectory, our parish house. What a wonderful moment that will be! Parishioners will finally be able to return to the place where they had been meeting their priests for almost a century, and the priests can stop living provisionally and finally return to their home after a two year journey.

It has taken a long time for the building to recover from the damage it sustained almost two years ago, when anger and violence set flame to a holy house of peace and welcome. And even if the building is renewed, in some way our hearts will never quite be the same. Recently I visited the fifth grade class at our school, and these children — who were in third grade at the time — still carry fresh memories of what happened, how they felt, and how they still grieve. Out of the mouths of babes...

Yet our return to the renewed rectory will be a real sign of hope. We are no longer held hostage to being disconnected to our sense of place. We have reclaimed a little bit of space, erased the scorch of flame, and removed the stench of smoky burns. Fresh paint, new wood, more hospitable rooms, comfy furniture, warm and efficient heat, safe electric — all of this awaits those who seek to be served by the church, who seek a moment of hospitality and welcome, and who work in the vineyard of the Lord. None of this can replace what has been lost. But all of it conspires to be a concrete sign that our spirit will not be vanquished.

Yet, as enthused as many of are, there are also many parishioners who are unmoved by the meaning of what we have done, and what we are yet to do. Perhaps it's because most people do not encounter the rectory the way they encounter, say, the church interior. We go to church every week, sometimes every day, but seldom to the actual rectory. The convent, which has been a suitable but temporary replacement, seems to have been alright, so why rebuild the old rectory?

In ancient times, when the Jewish People were taken in exile to Babylon, it was the worst thing that they could have imagined happening. Yet, when they were freed and allowed to return to Judah, most of them did not return! They liked it in Babylon, and saw no reason to be so excited about going home. In fact, much of the Old testament was written during these years of exile, precisely so that the people would not forget their heritage and the promise for their future. Scripture is an ongoing tale about not forgetting, about coming home.

On Sunday, November 21, the priests will spend their first night in the newly blessed house. The workers are close to the final touches. We still have a lot of money to raise (why are there so many parishioners who have been well served by the priests over the years, and who are able to contribute, but have not yet?), but we have to believe that God will provide for His servants and those who seek Him in their lives.

Mark your calendars. Welcome home!

Fr. Michael

MODLITWA

Czy modlitwa ma wartosc? Czy Bóg interesuje sie tymi, którzy sie do Niego modla? Czy modlitwa nie jest rzucana na wiatr? Takie pytania rodza sie w nas i nurtuja nas nieustannie, kiedy zdaje sie nam, ze Bóg nie reaguje; kiedy ci, którzy zwracaja sie do Niego o pomoc, pomocy nie otrzymuja. Jesli modlitwa nie przynosi zadnego skutku, to jaka moze miec wartosc? Czy nie byloby rozsadniej porzucic modlitwe, oszczedzajac sobie bezuzytecznego trwonienia czasu? Czy nie lepiej wyzbyc sie zludzen? Bo jesli sami nie radzimy sobie z trudnosciami lub nie znajdujemy pomocy u innych - to czyz nie powinniśmy stad wywnioskowac, ze nie mozemy oczekiwac pomocy nawet od Boga?

Jezus ostrzega swoich uczniow przed takim wnioskowaniem i zacheca ich do nieustannej modlitwy. Nawet jesli musza dlugo czekac, nawet jesli nie moga dostrzec Bozej pomocy - nie powinni ustawac w modlitwie. Powinni zas zwracac sie do Boga z niewyczerpana ufnościa. Opowiadajac przypowieść o sedzi i wdowie, Jezus chce przekonac uczniow, ze moga miec bezwarunkowa ufnośc co do wysluchania ich prosby przez Boga, nawet jesli nie potwierdza sie to natychmiast, trzeba wielokrotnie powtarzac modlitwe.

W Ewangelii sedzia jest przedstawiony jako czlowiek nie liczacy sie nikim. A jednak w koncu wysluchuje proszaca kobiete. Ona osiagnela cel swoja wytrwaloscia. Sedziego nie poruszyla bynajmniej obudzone poczucie obowiazku, a jedynie egoizm. Chcial sie on uwolnic od stalej uciazliwosci, od naprzykrzania sie tej kobiecie. Jesli wytrwala prosba mozna uzyskac cos od takiego czlowieka, to o ilez wiekszy wpływ ma modlitwa na Boga.

Z duza doza prawdopodobienstwa mozemy stwierdzic, ze nie lubimy sie modlic i nie nie umiemy sie modlic. Czesto tez nie rozumiemy sensu modlitwy; zbyt wypaczylismy ja.

Sprawa modlitwy to sprawa wiary i milosci. To również sprawa umiejetnosci zycia. Mozna smialo tez stwierdzic: jak kto wierzy, tak sie modli, lub nawet, jak kto miluje - tak sie modli. Czlowiek z natury stworzony jest dla Boga, szuka i potrzebuje Go. Gdy sie nie modli, powoli zaczyna uwazac, ze moze sie bez Niego obejsc, zapomina o Nim, a w koncu zaczyna watpic w Jego istnienie i sam staje sie „bogiem” dla siebie.

Nasza modlitwa nie moze byc egoistyczna, interesowna. Bóg nie jest „kupcem” siedzacy za ladą. Zasadnicza postawa w modlitwie powinna byc wielkoduszna milosc. Modlitwa nie jest zebrana czy zadaniem, ale darem skladanym ze swej osoby i zycia. Nie jest ona czekaniem na wzruszenia, uczucia i doznawanie przezyc lecz jest spotkaniem duszy z Bogiem. Nie powinniśmy sie wiec zniechecac z powodu roztargnien czy mysli natretnych, gdyz Bóg patrzy na nasz wysilek, a nie na wynik, patrzy na serce a nie na nastroje.

Sw. Teresa z Avili pisze: Aby mówic z Ojcem Niebieskim i cieszyć sie Jego obecnościa nie trzeba wznosic sie do nieba i wzywac Go glosno. Wystarczy usunac sie w samotnośc i odszukac Go w nas samych. Nie trzeba sie przerazac majestatem tego Goscia, ale mówic do Niego pokornie, jak do Ojca.

Modlitwa jest przeogromna sila, która podnosi czlowieka. Sprawia, ze jego zgorzkniale serce zamienia sie w serce pelne slodocy, smutne - w radosne, nieoswiecone w jasne, chore w silne, a zimne w gorace.

CELEBRATING LIFE

The Slavic Village Catholic parishes continue to commemorate October as the Pro-Life month with a series of events sponsored by the combined parishes. This is a concrete expression of Bishop Pilla's desire for Vibrant Parish Life, and it serves a much-demanded need in our community.

This week Wednesday, October 20 at 7:00 PM, there will be a "Symposium on Life" hosted at Cleveland Central Catholic High School. The event is an opportunity to enlighten ourselves about life issues such as end of life care, stem cell research, and alternatives to abortion. This will be a two-hour program with time for prayer and input on two different topics of your choice. Next weekend, St. John Nepomucene will host a Book Fair on Saturday, October 23 from 5:00 - 6:00 PM, and Sunday October 24, from 8:30 AM - 1:00 PM. If you are looking for excellent material to read for your spiritual life, as well as for a more in-depth Catholic perspective in various life issues, please drop by. Proceeds will benefit some of the pro-life organizations represented at the Symposium.

Also next Sunday, October 24 at 3:00 PM, we celebrate the vibrant diversity of Catholic life with a second annual "Catholic catholic Choralfest" here at Saint Stanislaus. Church choirs from many different Catholic cultures will share their musical heritage in this event that is unique to all of Cleveland.
