EMPIRE

This past Tuesday evening we were 'treated' to an evening of television which featured the 'mighty' trying to justify their killing of people for a 'greater good.' In this 'civilized' culture, killing those who oppose the official doctrine of golden freedom were sought out and eliminated. Their leaders were sought out and apprehended lest they incite the opposition. The leaders of the 'empire' thought themselves 'justified' to pursue and solve the problem of opposition as they were convinced that the damage inflicted by these enemies would be lasting, grave and certain. The path of diplomacy was not expected to succeed, a waste of time for an empire who answered to no other power than its gods and its politicians. The 'empire' was sure to succeed in every battle, so assured of its superior technology, discipline and sacred ideals, all supported by their power....and their gods. The 'empire' had nothing to worry about as the peace which it would bestow on civilized world would never produce evils and disorders graver than the evil to be eliminated.

Which television show do you think I'm speaking about? The one that aired Tuesday at 8 PM or the one that aired at 9 PM.? Well, that's for you to decide. However, the justifications that I listed are those which are listed in the Catechism of the Catholic Church concerning the doctrine for a 'just war.'

Both shows had an awful lot of talk about freedom and law and order and gods and God. Both shows presented the protagonists as the appropriate winners, the antagonists as unfortunate losers. Both shows concerned a ruling class which justified their actions based on noble ideas...to them. And, as we've learned time and time again, in a war of ideas it is people who die.

In his encyclical Gaudium et Spes, Pope Paul VI added Christ to the picture when he stated the following: Insofar as men are sinners, the threat of war hangs over them and will so continue until Christ comes again; but insofar as they can vanquish sin by coming together in charity, violence itself will be vanquished and these words will be fulfilled: "they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning books; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.(Isa 2:4)"

Nothing so noble or true as those words was uttered on Tuesday evening, whether by a man with an accent of 'affected English' or Texas.

CHURCH AND STATE

This weekend, Americans across the country will celebrate our independence with noise and picnics, carnivals and festivals, family reunions, travel, and general merriment. Although many people will enjoy some quiet time, the air of festivity will still surround them. And maybe — just maybe — a few more folks might start the day with Mass, thanking the Author of Freedom for the gift of freedom.

I remember a boss I had years ago, before I joined the Franciscans, while I worked as a salesman for a small company. He was a devoted Catholic and often invoked his faith at work. We had many engaging discussions, and the occasions when we disagreed usually found me keeping my mouth shut (imagine!), since I knew who signed the paycheck. But one thing he said just floored me, and I still recall the powerlessness at not being able to respond. We were talking about Jesus' call to care for the poor, and he said in a very strong voice, "I am not my brother's keeper! I look out for Number One, and that's it!"

I wonder what Gospel he had been reading. It wasn't the same as mine.

These days we hear a lot about the proper public place for religious expression. Most recently, there have been two Supreme Court decisions about the placement of the Ten Commandments. Let me go out on a limb here and suggest that, if we were more concerned about inscribing the Ten Commandments in our hearts, and less worried about whether they hung on our courtroom walls, we would all be better off.

That little encounter years ago with my boss, who shares my religious denomination and whose coercive power is less than that of the government, made clear to me how people with power can use their religious views in ways that intimidate and alienate others. I deeply disagreed with his reading of the scriptures and our tradition, but I was certainly in no position as a new employee seriously to question his views. Instead, I had to endure his speechifying until he was ready to let me leave the room.

If we were more concerned about inscribing the Ten Commandments in our hearts, and less worried about whether they hung on our courtroom walls, we would all be better off.

As for the so-called Christianity of our Founding Fathers, did you know that seven of nine of them denied the divinity of Jesus? And that they fostered at least nine illegitimate children? Over 300 public school districts in the U.S. have adopted courses in which the Bible is the primary textbook. Who do you suppose is teaching these courses, and what are they saying about the Bible? I don't want the state doing this. This is the job of the churches and families. And if we can't do it, then we shouldn't pawn it off onto the government.

As we celebrate our freedom as a nation, let's also renew our commitment to our religious faith — and to the responsibility that places upon us.

Fr. Michael

PROSTOTA MODLITWY

Wysławiam Ciebie, Ojczy, Panie nieba i ziemi, że zakryłeś te rzeczy przed mądrymi i roztroprnymi, a objawiłeś je prostaczkom" (Mt 11,25) - w tych słowach modlitwy i wyznania Chrystusa uderza przedziwna naturalność i prostota mówienia do Boga i o Bogu. Postawa ta znajduje swoje potwierdzenie również w trudnej modlitwie Ogrójca i Golgoty: „

Ojczy, jeśli to możliwe, niech odejdzie ode Mnie ten kielich! Wszakże nie jak Ja chce, ale jak Ty" (Mt 26,39); „Ojczy, w Twoje ręce powierzam ducha mego" (Lk 23,46). Mówienie Jezusa skierowane ku Bogu - zdaniem jednego z teologów - otworzyło swobodną przestrzeń nowemu rodzajowi modlitwy. Wielu z nas, może nawet nie zawsze świadomie, korzysta z tego rodzaju modlitwy: to wołanie wypływające prosto z serca i skierowane bezpośrednio do Ojca w niebie. To chyba najbardziej szczery i najprostsz rodzaj modlitwy, to niemal modlitwa pierwszego odruchu, naturalnej reakcji.

Chrystus, w swoich „rozmowach z Ojcem" wypowiadał słowa bardzo proste, zwyczajne, a jednak ludzie, którzy Go słuchali, mówili ze zdumieniem: „Nigdy człowiek nie przemawiał tak, jak ten człowiek przemawia" (J 7,46)... „Co to za nowa nauka z moca?" (Lk 4,32). Nauka Jezusa poruszała słuchaczy, budziła refleksje, choć nie brakowało i takich, którzy wzięli w Niego i pytali: „Skąd u Niego ta mądrość i skądże On ma to wszystko!" (Mk 6,2). Chrystus zawsze wywoływał i wywołuje reakcje u ludzi, różne reakcje. Ale jedno jest pewne: poprzez swoją naukę bardzo zbliżył nas do Ojca, skraca drogę kontaktu z Nim i pokazuje Stwórcę jako istotę serdeczną i bliską.

Nasz kontakt z Bogiem jest zawsze możliwy; przeszkody mogą zaistnieć tylko z naszej strony, zaś otwartość i postawa prawdy - to konieczność. Naszym zadaniem jest odkrywać prawdę, która objawia nam Chrystus. Pięknie przypomniał nam o tym - w czasie trzeciej pielgrzymki do Polski - Jan Paweł II: „Chrystus » zadał« Kościołowi swoją prawdę, aby ją odkrył i przekazał każdemu człowiekowi... prawda jest zadaniem i zobowiązaniem...".

Dzieje zbawienia pouczają nas jednak o sprzeciwie wobec prawdy ze strony samego człowieka. Może on bowiem wybrać „życie według ciała", które prowadzi ku śmierci. Człowiek może posunąć się aż tak daleko, że nie tylko nie przyjmie głoszonej mu prawdy, ale radykalnie zaprzeczy obecności Boga, jako Źródła wszelkiej prawdy.

Niemal odruchowo narzuca się przy tych rozważaniach postać kapłana bardzo serdecznego, który wprawdzie był z nami tylko kilka miesięcy po tragicznej śmierci o. Williama Gulasza, ale który swoją serdecznością i prostotą kontaktów pozostał w sercu i pamięci wielu z nas. Mam na myśli o. Jana Licznera, który odszedł do Pana w niedzielę, 19 czerwca. Z grupą naszych parafian uczestniczyliśmy w jego pogrzebie w macierzystej siedzibie prowincji franciszkańskiej w Burlington, WI. Wszyscy podkreślali jego serdeczną otwartość i prostotę kontaktów z bliźnimi. A mnie osobiście nasuwa się nieodparta myśl, że dzisiejsza Ewangelia traktuje wprost o nim i jakby skierowana jest do niego. To był kapłan cichy i pokornego serca. Warto spróbować go nasładować.

ks. Jerzy

LIL BROS PILGRIMAGE TO WORLD YOUTH DAY

Next month, six members of the Lil Bros Club will be joined by Fr. Michael and three other Franciscan Friars as they make a pilgrimage of faith to the World Youth Day held in Cologne, Germany. Our Holy Father, Pope Benedict XVI, will host millions of young people from all over the world. Our little group will start in Rome, travel through Assisi, Austria, and along the Rhine River until we arrive in the "Rome of the North."

Our young people have been working hard to raise funds to prepare for this trip of a lifetime. Many parishioners have responded to their various sales, and some have even made separate donations. At all the Masses next weekend, July 9-10, there will be a second collection as a final push to help make this a truly memorable and life-changing event.

Also, part of the tradition of pilgrimage is to carry with us the prayers of the community that sends us. All are encouraged to write prayer petitions and place them in envelopes, which we will carry with us and remember at Mass celebrated in all the holy places we visit. You can give these to one of the priests, Lil Bros, or in the collection basket.
