WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Organ Restoration Raffle tickets

As alumni & friends of St. Stanislaus Parish and School we have a golden opportunity to help in the preservation of the Historic Original Organ – an integral part of “the splendid edifice” in our beloved Shrine Church.

The Committee has decided to ask the members to help – as best as possible – with another raffle. Two $20 tickets are enclosed with a return envelope and we ask that all checks be made out to “St. Stan’s”. This raffle is an opportunity to help raise matching funds needed for the organ restoration. About $45,000 is needed by November 2016.

By us, the Alumni & Friends, stepping up we can help David Krakowski, Director of Liturgy and Music, complete this major project. There are over 800 of these ‘Spires’ mailed twice a year (Jan & July). If each recipient buys one ticket at $20 we can raise about $15,000; two tickets can help with an impact of $30,000. (If a check for more than $40 is returned—the corresponding raffle stubs will be reproduced to reflect the appropriate number of tickets bought...without you having to fill out any more stubs.)

Whether we raised our voices as parishioners or as choir / glee club members in harmony with the organ—hopefully we will be motivated to help restore the music as our ancestors intended. The parish organ is an historical gem to be protected and preserved.

It is appropriate and timely to call to your attention to the website www.mystatebeautiful.com – “The Top 12 Most Beautiful Churches in Ohio.” Check out #4 on the list, HINT... There is a nice photo of the choir loft and organ.

A REMINDER...the overall goal of The Spire and our Alumni & Friends Association is Three Fold and by our involvement with the organ raffle—we are touching all three of the overall goals:

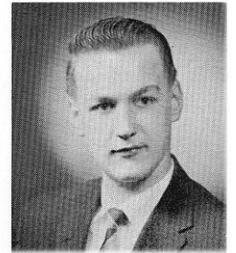

- Appreciate and savor our past through involvement with alumni and cherished friendships.
- Live in and enjoy the present by being aware and participating in up-coming activities and parish events.
- Work to help the future of St. Stanislaus Parish and Schools, as well as our alumni development.

Act of Kindness

“There is a world of difference between preparing for a religion class when we studied the Works of Mercy to pass a test— AND— experiencing the works in action performed after graduation by our respected coach and his brother.”

Thank you, Al Kuczynski '59, for sharing one of your “lifetime memorable moments” with the Spire... Editor Bob Sledz '61.

Several years after graduating from St. Stanislaus High School and while working the busy management forum night shift at The Cleveland Plain Dealer, my memorable story begins... It was soon after Joanne and I moved to our new home in the “Old Brooklyn” neighborhood. One evening while driving down Oakpark to the Broadview Road intersection my car stalled and then ‘died’. It would not even turn over. I was running late and had to get to work on time—plus—MY CAR! MY Baby—I LOVED MY 1956 Black and White DeSoto; IT WAS ONE OF A KIND!!

I ran over to the corner and about 100 yards away at the intersection of Broadview and Maynard was a SOHIO Station, JANIAK’S SOHIO SERVICE, 4795 Broadview Road, and it is still there today.

(I made a sign of the Cross, promised to start behaving, and hurried up the hill to the station.) I told the service station attendant my dilemma, his name tag said ‘NESTOR’, and he proceeded to the rear of the shop and came back with a car battery and set of jumper cables. I offered money, license, wallet as collateral, he said ‘that’s OK, I looked honest, that I was afflicted by my emergency and that I would probably need the battery again in the morning to get home... to just bring it back the next day.’

Well everything worked out, my car started, I got to work on time, and then got back home the next morning after work. The next day I went to return the battery and cables and also figured to fill the car with SOHIO Premium gas. A different attendant comes out, his name tag reads ‘LEN’, and then asks “How much gas do you want pumped?” Looking at his face—I almost fell over—because it was our St. Stan’s Coach, Len Janiak. (I think I was still walking around with impressions of the paddling he once gave me—one really good swat back then and I’ve been pretty good ever since.) For me to see him outside of the school situation and near where I lived now was a surprise. I probably never really thought that teachers and coaches had a life, expenses and that their teaching career did not pay much, especially if they have a family to support. I went inside to pay Nestor and to thank him for the use of the battery and cables. I asked if that is Coach Janiak from St. Stan’s pumping my gas out there? “Yes” he said, “Len is my brother, my name is Nestor, and my son Ken is in the back.”

From that day forward I never went to another station for work on my car or my six kid’s cars. And I was never disappointed. Eventually my son, Steve, worked at the station with Ken for about 10 years.

P.S. - for every Nun that ever punished me—I’m sorry you didn’t do more punishment, harder and more often—I know I deserved it. God Bless You.

P.P.S. - a lot of this stemmed from me trying to be the funniest guy in my class but I came in 3rd place behind Russell Walker and Wayne Szymanski.

Nephew of Len Janiak...Ken Janiak today

Ken Janiak suggested that the Spire contact his cousin Bruce to get his input and thoughts on his dad...so we did...

Dr. Bruce D. Janiak, MD, Emergency Physician Pediatric Specialist at GR Health Medical Center, GA.

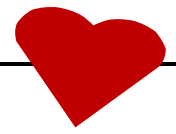

Many thanks for graciously asking me to share some memories of my dad (coach Janiak) with all of you or "y'all" as I now live in Augusta, Georgia.

I remember going to as many football games as I could, riding the team bus, chatting with the players and listening to them sing school songs all the way home. For his first few years as coach my mother would wash all the grungy team uniforms at our house. My dad did not want me to attend Saint Stan's as he felt there might be a conflict of interest in terms of sports. I doubt that would have been a problem as NONE of my father's professional football sports genes were passed on to me.

Throughout the years, I would work with him all night at my uncle Nestor's gas station ($1.25/hr!). Dad passed away at age 64 on May 22, 1980.

However, my wife Michele and I did carry on one family tradition: foster parenting. My parents had two foster kids over the years and we had several dozen. We ended up adopting 11, to add to our own three. They are now all on their own...foster parenting served our family well

In fond memory of my relationship with St. Stans High School, I am Bruce Janiak. Thank you for the opportunity to share this. God Bless

THANK YOU -----THANK YOU

A very sincere Thank You to all who participated in our second “CUT OUT” Raffle ticket. Your support again will greatly help this July Issue of our Newsletter. Meaningful New Windows at CCCHS

This spring Cleveland Central Catholic High School had 23 new windows installed on its south elevation facing Forman Avenue. These windows were replaced by Pella Windows, which included six tall arched and covered with faux stained-glass that represented six individuals important in the history of CCC. Shown here are the images: St. Michael the Archangel, Our Lady of Lourdes, St. John XXIII, St. John Paul II, St. John Cantius and St. Stanislaus, representing the four founding schools which merged to form Cleveland Central Catholic and its first graduating class in 1970.

Many of the windows on the south side were original from when the building was constructed in 1921. The faux stained-glass windows were the result of a generous gift made by the Lennon Charitable Trust. For more information contact Cleveland Central Catholic High School at 216-441-4700.

Lottie (Czerpa) Ford

...100 years old, credits faith, hard work and family for longevity

Lottie was born, in her family house of East 59th Street in Cleveland, on February 23, 1916. That year Woodrow Wilson was president, WWI was raging in Europe, and Albert Einstein completed his General Theory of Relativity. Today Lottie Ford laughs when asked what the secret is to living to be 100. "I'm amazed at myself. It doesn't feel like it...my body may feel like it, but not my brain." The Rocky River centenarian said before her recent birthday celebration at the Normandy, where she lives in the care center.

Lottie's Polish mother, Nellie and Harry, her Czechoslovakian father, raised seven children in the house on East 59th Street, where they were all born in the same bedroom, with Lottie being the third oldest. Her father was a foundry worker in the steel mills. As a family they did not have much, it was a hard but happy life. "We walked everywhere" she recalled. "We had no car, no radio. You meet the same people every day and you never had any reason to be afraid."

From 1922 until her 8th grade graduation in 1929, Lottie attended St. Stanislaus Elementary School and had a wonderful education experience with the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth. Some of the classes were large with over 75 students, most everyone also spoke Polish but they learned 'proper' English in school. We better behave or Sister's ruler was "on us". In school we would often have the school nurse for health exams – we always wanted to look our best. To help prepare for this, my mom saved large cloth bags from salt or potatoes. She washed and bleached them, sewed them together to fit as a nice slip for us to wear under our dress. After purchasing lace from Woolworths, mom then taught us how to sew it to the slip to make them look fancy. We didn't have much—but did our best with what we had. This experience helped pave the way for Lottie to sew for Ann's Bridal Salon, a home based seamstress business and also to work at Bobbie Brooks.

Lottie with great-granddaughter Avery Cummins

During the early years, they moved from East 59th Street to 3828 East 54th Street between Fleet and Harvard. Today there is an empty lot where the house once stood proudly during her childhood. It was a little longer walk to school and church—but it was closer to Washington Park—where they loved to spend a great deal of their time.

After the 8th Grade graduation, Lottie was able to help with the family finances—she made $1 a day working for 4.5 years at 'The Pantry' on Warner Road. This was a long walk to and from work every day, (From her house on East 54th St., to Harvard Avenue, go East on Harvard past East 71st to Broadway, then south from Broadway to Warner Road.) This was the 1930's and the Great Depression—but for a young girl helping the family with a few dollars each week was important.

Lottie met her future husband through her best friend, Alice Kensicki's brother Eugene, who had a pal who was a "Nice Guy"—Harry Ford. At that time Harry worked as a truck driver at White Motors and later as a CTS Bus driver and Carlings Brewing delivery man. When Lottie and Harry went out on a date—it usually involved a lot of walking. Starting from East 54th to Washington Park or Garfield Park or the Olympia Theater, "We had very little money but enjoyed popcorn and ice cream or we could buy a waffle for 10 cents. We did enjoy each other's company and shared hopes and dreams."

"I loved to dance—especially the Polka. One of my favorite spots was a neighborhood site at East 54th and Fleet. They would bring in Polka Bands and we had a great time. At home we finally bought an old "battered" radio, whatever it played, we would dance. As time went on, Lottie and Harry became more serious—BUT—Harry was not Catholic. He agreed to take pre-marriage classes/meetings at Holy Name Parish. They were married there on May 29, 1937. For their "Honeymoon"—it was a combination "get away" and "work". Harry's job at White Motors was delivering uncompleted truck chassis. They did not have a windshield and only boards nailed together to make a front seat for the driver. These trucks were delivered to people who bought them as they were—unfinished. The "Honeymoon" consisted of delivering a truck chassis to Chicago. Lottie recalls, "I was to wear old clothes and gloves for the trip, it was going to be dusty. As we started out I kept sliding off the seat boards. After a short time I thought I would fall out. Harry stopped at a Hardware store, bought some clothesline rope and tied us together and to the seat. I think he invented the first seat belts. When we finally got to Chicago, we were exhausted and a dirty, disheveled mess. Harry did get paid for the delivery; we got to sleep at the trucker's rest area and were able to get a different truck delivery job back to Cleveland. What a Honeymoon! But it was the late 30's, it was work, and we were in love!"

A tough experience for us newlyweds was when we saved $100 and purchased our first car, a polished, nice looking Ford from a neighbor. We gave him the money and signed an "as is contract". The car looked so good and the neighbor kept it so nice and polished, we bought it without test driving it and kept it in the neighbors garage until the weekend, when we went to pick it up, it wouldn't start, we found out it needed a new engine. The neighbor said, "tough luck—your contract says AS IS." We were very disappointed and learned from the experience.

In the early 1940's we moved from East 54th Street to 2923 Marvin Avenue on the near west side. The youngest son, David Ford, who is Rocky River Recreation Center Manager, remembers that a happy family life and dedication to hard work carried over as he and his siblings grew up. He recalled that his father, who died in 1991, often went fishing, and every Friday his mother would fry up fresh Lake Erie Perch. He also, recalls the exciting times when he played the Senate Basketball Championship at the Old Cleveland Arena when he played for Lincoln-West High School in 1975 and later, when he pitched for the Baltimore Orioles after High School. Lottie enjoyed attending as many games as she could.

Lottie Ford's family eventually grew to include, aside from four children, nine grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and a great-great-granddaughter, Kennedy Stojkovich, born December 23, 2015. Most of the family braved the elements to join Lottie for her 100th Birthday, some traveling from New York, Florida, California and Tennessee. As David Ford says he still looks up to his mother, "She's the greatest person I've ever known in my life"

Memorial Mass

The Annual Dad's Club Memorial Service will be held in conjunction with our Alumni Memorial Mass on Saturday, November 5, 2016 at the 5:00 p.m. Mass.

Listed below are all the deceased St. Stanislaus Dad's Club members to be recognized as well as dates of their passing. Because many of the alumni may want to attend this service that honors their father or family member, we wanted to use this issue of the Spire to announce this special event. Following the service in church will be a coffee and bakery social reception.

During the 1950's and 60's the Dad's Club worked tirelessly at fund raising to help enable the dream of the Gym and Social Hall to become a reality. A group of Dad's Club members also worked to restore the Church Organ in the 1980's.

Thank you to all Dads' Club Members and to Golubski Funeral Home for establishing and coordinating this memorial. Hope to see you on November 5th.

The Organ Restoration Raffle drawing will be held at this reception. To aid us in preparing for crowd size, please check the 'Memorial Response' on the raffle ticket stub that you return.
