If you can find it in your means, please be generous in your support of the many good works of our Parish. St. Stanislaus depends upon the regular support of its membership and the generosity of those who visit here. Please look upon your financial gift or sacrifice as a way of giving praise to God along with the many from earlier generations who have worshiped and prayed here for 130 years.

A FULL HOUSE

Wow! Last week I was writing about funerals – this week about POKER! Wrong! What's on my mind this week is a different type of 'full house' – the kind we had here at our church celebrating 'Catholic Schools Week,' namely, the Alumni Mass on Saturday evening and the combined schools' Mass on Monday morning. Both of those celebrations packed the church nicely, but Monday morning's Mass won the prize for 'sardine can' conditions – packed to the max!

For those of you who have attended our school liturgies, the experience will probably have left you with a variety of mixed feelings. If you are seeking an oasis or an island of calm, forget it. Children are not angels. Neither are any of us. They come to church as a prelude to their school day, some to worship, some to dream; some to behave, others to make mischief. Of course, we were all so very different. Right!

On Wednesday mornings the 4th –6th grades are our group, demonstrating rather well the strengths of a fine educational system. The readers do their best, the little choir leads the others admirably, the teachers' eyes speak volumes to those who need little reminders.

On Thursday morning we are transported back into a sophisticated "romper room with Miss Barbara" world, grades K-3. Joy and hope and eagerness are in abundance – an innocence which only exists during those tender years lights up the church no matter the weather.

On Friday mornings a certain reality surfaces as we encounter an age group determined to exert individualism reluctantly hanging on to the simplicity which they think they need to abandon with a certainty beyond control, grades 7 and 8. A tough group; a group that is on the threshold of a different reality. This group is super-ripe for molding, in fact begging for it, keeping both eyes wide open while feigning an attitude of cool indifference.

This past Monday we squeezed them all into our church together with the students of Cleveland Central Catholic. It was a wonderful event. The guardian angels were kept busy. Jesus looked out over the vast space of the shrine and saw one of our treasures...His children. You are all welcomed to join us during the week to pray with them and for them, remembering that we were once all as fidgety and cute at some time in our lives, and to see that same treasure.

STATE OF THE (RE)UNION

At 4:30, I knew we were in for something big. Last weekend before the 5:00 Saturday Mass, I noticed there were many people who were not the “usual” five o’clock crowd. (I also wondered if the regulars would be upset that someone had taken “their” places in the pews!) The church kept filling up, and when the pipe organ struck up the opening to “All Are Welcome,” I knew the song rang true.

Estimates are always exactly that — estimates. But it seems that between five and six hundred additional people came to Mass last Saturday as part of our first St. Stanislaus Alumni Reunion. When the committee began planning the event only a couple of short months ago, none of us was sure exactly how many guests would even come. Maybe just the regular five o’clock crowd, who also happened to be alums? Maybe a few dozen others?

But hundreds responded, and what a wonderful time it was! The oldest class represented was 1925, the youngest was from last year. We had alums from three and five years ago, some from the nineties — in fact, every decade was represented. Several of our current students were there as ambassadors. They were delighted to hear the stories of the generations that preceded them, and they were visibly proud to be a young part of a long tradition. A few of them even asked me to promise they could come back in 30 years too!

Of course, we owe a huge debt of thanks to the committee that sponsored the event, and also to the benefactors who made donations to cover its cost. We also owe a large debt to all who have sacrificed in the past, and who continue to sacrifice, to make Catholic education available to the young people of our community. Many generations have passed through our doors, and now they are “coming back home” to rekindle memories and to ask how they can help assure future generations of proud and grateful alumni.

Many things have changed over the years, but even more have stayed the same. We still have Polish immigrant kids coming to our school, and they do very well for themselves. We also have immigrants from other countries as well. We have Catholic, Protestant, and Orthodox kids, and a Muslim too. We have neighborhood kids, and kids who travel a bit. We even have kids from the suburbs. We have kids with special educational needs, and the occasional genius. We have kids who are well-behaved, and frankly some who are more of a challenge.

At the same time, in many ways kids today struggle more than ever. There are more broken families, more drugs and violence on the streets and their homes, a more sexually energized culture, and more adults who have never grown up themselves. None of these are conditions chosen by the kids. Some kids lead lives that are so tough, it’s amazing they can just get up in the morning, get dressed, and get to school.

But they come. And, with God’s blessing and a lot of help from people whom they will never meet, they leave us better for having been here. And that, dear friends, is what makes it all worth the effort.

Fr. Michael

JEZUS I KOBIETY

Jezus, nauczając w ziemi palestyńskiej, ciągle był w drodze. Otaczał go tłum ludzi zadnych nie tylko jego nauki, ale bardzo często czekających niecierpliwie na jakis cud. Cud, który zaspokajał ich zachłanność na coś niezwykłego, często graniczacego z cudactwem. Chrystus, aby oderwać się od tego tłumu, bardzo często odchodził gdzieś na bok i szukał miejsca, aby się modlić w skupieniu i ciszy na pustyni. Ale zaznał także ciepła domu w którym można być pewnym serdecznego przyjęcia. Był to dom Łazarza, Marty i Marii, gdzie często przebywał w czasie swych wędrówek po bezdrożach Palestyny. Był jeszcze inny dom, w którym Jezus szczególnie czuł się jak u siebie: dom Piotra w Kafarnaum.

Dzisiejszy tekst Ewangelii opisuje typowy dzień publicznego życia Jezusa. Zatrzymajmy się na pierwszym epizodzie, uzdrowieniu tesciowej Piotra. Św. Marek z pewnością opowiedział to, co usłyszał od samego Piotra: Moja tesciowa leżała złożona gorączka. Kiedy przyszedł Jezus, powiedziałem Mu o niej, a wtedy On podszedł do łóżka i podniósł ją za rękę, gorączka ją opuściła i zaraz zaczęła nam usługiwać.

Zwróćmy uwagę na dwa zwroty: „podniósł ją” i „usługiwała im”. Jako że cud jest zawsze jakimś pouczeniem, ewangelista chce nam dziś pokazać, że moc Jezusa może nas podnieść, abysmy stali się tymi, którzy służą.

Wszystko zatem dzieje się w „domu”. A kobieta, która Jezus stawia na nogi, jest jego wspaniałą gospodynią. Kiedy gościem jest Jezus, wszyscy chcą swietować. Na początku obecni są tylko czterej wybrani: Piotr, Andrzej, Jakub i Jan, ale już wkrótce będzie ich dwunastu, a z nimi ich żony i dzieci. Marek opowiada dalej: „Tłum się zbierał, tak że nawet posilić się nie mogli”.

Wyobrazamy sobie tesciową Piotra stawiającą wszystkiemu czoło, jak to czyni wiele kobiet, obdarzonych prawdziwym zmysłem gościnności, wymagającym hojności i dyskrecji. „I usługiwała im”. Warto w tym rozważaniu pomyśleć o „tych, które służą”. Być może sami jesteśmy wezwani do tego by służyć, a może potrzeba, abysmy zastanowili się nad naszą postawą wobec wszystkich kobiet pełniących z wielkim oddaniem różne posługi.

Kobieta - żona, matka, tesciowa czy kobieta niezamezna - często jest panią domu w którym przyjmuje wielu gości. Zapewne na jej miejscu, ciężko wyobrazić sobie, że służy Jezusowi i Jego apostołom. Pewnie zasmiałaby się albo zezłościła, bo przecież nikt z ludzi, którym stara się ofiarować wikt i schronienie, nie jest Jezusem. Ale czy na pewno?

A nas wszystkich, którzy jesteśmy „obsługiwani”, opowieść o kobiecie, która służy, powinna zachęcić do rachunku sumienia. Czy jesteśmy wdzięczni, albo choćby po prostu ludzcy, wobec kelnerek, sprzedawczyń, urzędniczek? To prawda, nie zawsze są one uprzejme, ale czy nam łatwo byłoby się uśmiechać po wielu godzinach wyczerpującej pracy, w której bylibysmy narazeni na kontakt z nieuprzejmymi klientami? Może chociaż my moglibysmy rozjaśnić ich dzień?

A huge thank you to parishioners, friends, and committee members who helped make the Alumni Reunion so successful last weekend. The 5 o'clock Mass was well attended by alumni, ranging in graduates from 1934 to 2002. The reception that followed filled the grade school's first floor to capacity. Alumni from different graduation years met and reminisced about their grade school and high school education at St. Stanislaus schools. Alumni had pictures to share and stories to tell. Laughter vibrated through the halls. Many alumni were grateful that they were a part of this event and are looking forward to keeping the momentum going with future events. The wonderful turnout only proves that St. Stanislaus lives in the hearts of so many people—near and far, young and old.
