Fall Festival Guide

The safety of all who enjoy the Fall Festival is our top priority. This includes committee, volunteers, donors, and patrons. In 2021, the following safety measures will be taken to ensure the health and safety for all:

- All dinner tickets will be sold ONLINE. Please refer to the church website, bulletin, and your email to find the link to use for ticket purchases.
 - There will be a limited number of offline ticket sales, reserved for those without internet access. If you are able, we kindly ask that you purchase your tickets online.
- Our meal will be available in a takeout fashion only. The dining room will not be offered this year.
- All meals will be served by fall festival volunteers and individually packaged. Volunteers in the kitchen and dining areas will wear masks.
- Traffic flow and social distancing guidelines will be marked.

- Lines will not form in the office hallway.
- Hand sanitizer and signage will be displayed throughout the Fall Festival.
- To minimize cash, we will only have two venues taking payments. If possible, please plan on paying with check at the Fall Festival. This includes all purchases of pumpkins and bake sale goods.
- All volunteers in the kitchen and takeout areas will be required to wear masks. All workers handling food will wear gloves. Masks will be highly encouraged for other volunteers.
- Safety guidelines have/will be provided to all volunteers baking pies and other goods for the bake sale.
- All volunteers have/will be provided with safety measures to take, such as staying home if experiencing symptoms, maintaining social distancing, continually sanitizing surfaces, etc.
- The silent auction tends to draw quite the crowd! Therefore, this has been moved to an online platform to allow us to spread the on-site venues out more and also give those attending earlier the chance to continue bidding throughout the bidding period.
