Mrs. Colette Clayton - 7th & 8th Grade English

The 8th grade has got off to a fantastic start. Only one month in and things are running smoothly. We had big spots to fill, and we filled them quickly with eager 8th graders wanting to help. Some students help raise our United States flag each morning and lower it each afternoon, 8th graders are serving as sacristans and are ushers for our All-School Masses each week, while others are working hard each and every morning delivering STAL announcements. Our first of the high school visits will occur next Thursday, September 26 when students will shadow upperclassmen at Archbishop Alter High School. The 8th grade will experience time at both Chaminade Julienne High School on October 3 and at Carroll High School on October 31.

We have been busy in Mrs. Clayton's ELA classes with vocabulary, writing and publishing descriptive pieces on what sparks joy in our lives, and we are currently writing poems to compete in The Dayton Peace Festival poetry contest. Next week, we will start our first novel, The Bridge Home, which is one of the 2019 Global Read Aloud selections. As you can see, Mrs. Clayton is pushing us hard, but if we stick together and work diligently we will have no problem getting through this year successfully.
