

A Little Light: Daily Musings with Mary Sue

Welcome to June 25!

Today we celebrate the feast day of St. William of Vercelli. There are many stories of St. Williams's faith and determination to see good in even the darkest of situations. For example, one night a wolf killed and ate his donkey. William scolded the wolf, and ordered it to take the donkey's place. Sensing it had interfered with a divine plan; the wolf obeyed and began hauling loads of stone for the saint.

Saint William saw God's plan and trusted that God was speaking to him even through unfortunate and trying events. He saw God in everything, every bit of it! What bad things have happened in your life that have actually led to good things? This is a great question for your family to explore! See Links below for more information on St. William of Vercelli and one of my favorite songs by Carrie Newcomer titled, "Every Little Bit of It."

FACT: William of Vercelli, Saint 1085-1142., born in Vercelli Italy he was brought up as an orphan became a hermit on Monte Vergine, Italy after a pilgrimage to Compostella and attracted so many followers that a monastery was built.
