Authority and Service

James and John had it all wrong. They wanted authority. They wanted to sit at the right hand and left hand of Jesus when the Kingdom of God was established on earth. They wanted to lord it over others. They wanted to be powerful and feared because of their power. They looked forward to being in authority.

They had it all wrong. In the Kingdom of God, authority would come through service, not through power.

I had a life lesson in this many years ago when I was a teacher at Mary Help of Christians School in Tampa. At that time the school was a boarding school for boys from grades 6 through 9. And they were stinkers. I was with the Salesians of St. John Bosco and was Brother Joe, not a priest yet. I was at the school with three other teaching brothers, all right out of college, and all overwhelmed by our work. I have some really embarrassing memories of my two years at that school. We were not trained to handle troubled children, and many of the children had severe problems. We did our best, but, sadly, we often acted like children ourselves. Although the Salesian educational model is one of preventing children from getting into trouble, in reality, the model we followed was having the kids fear us. There would be a lot of yelling and punishments. That was our way of achieving authority, through power and fear. I regret the times that I joined in this myself.

But we also worked very hard for the children. I remember having five preparations a day, five unique classes to teach, and a total of 35 minutes a day when I was not supervising the children. I would try to do my lesson plans while attempting to keep the kids quiet in the study hall. It rarely worked.

One day, though, the strangest thing happened. Besides everything else, we decided to put on a musical, You're a Good Man Charlie Brown. We needed music. I used to play the piano in high school and college, so I volunteered to provide the music. But this meant I had to practice. Instead of going to bed at the time I usually did, in my private room with 28 ninth graders, the dorm I supervised, I used to wait until the kids fell asleep, then sneak out to practice the piano. The other brothers would keep an eye on my dorm. I remember that I was way beyond tired for weeks. Well, this one day I was teaching an eighth grade class in history, standing in front of the class, when I suddenly thought that it would be a good idea to open my eyes. You may have had a similar experience at a boring conference at work, opening your eyes and hoping that the boss didn't notice you. Anyway, to get back to the story, I had fallen asleep standing up. I looked at my watch, and there were fifteen minutes missing from the class. I continued the class making believe nothing had happened. When the bell rang and the kids started leaving, I asked one of the eighth graders if I had fallen asleep. He said, "Yeah, you did." Then I asked him why the class had behaved so well. They didn't take advantage of the situation, but just stayed at their desks reading on their own. The boy said to me, "Well, we all know that you've been working real hard for us; so we thought we should let you sleep."

On that day I learned that authority comes from service, not from position or power or fear.

29th Sunday in Ordinary Time

You parents, good parents as you are, know this. You want your children to respect you and, for their sakes, listen to you. You know that you earn that respect not through intimidation and fear, but by your sacrifice for them. Your way of life, your daily routine, revolves around caring for your children. Sometimes you have to remind your children about all that Mom and Dad do for them out of love, but all in all, your children respect you because they experience how much you show your love for them every day. That is the source of your authority.

This is what Jesus is telling James, John and the other disciples. True power, true authority, flows from service.

Jesus summoned them and said to them, "You know that those who are recognized as rulers over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones make their authority over them felt. But it shall not be so among you. Rather, whoever wishes to be great among you will be your servant; whoever wishes to be first among you will be the slave of all. For the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve and to give His life as a ransom for many."

We are a Eucharistic people. You hear that expression all the time. But what does that really mean? We celebrate Jesus' Presence in the Blessed Sacrament. We receive communion. We adore His Presence in our tabernacles and during Eucharistic adoration services. But that is just one part of the Eucharistic dimension of our lives. To be a Eucharistic people, our celebration of the Eucharist must encompass washing the feet of the Lord's people. Remember that was what Jesus did before He gave His Body and Blood at the Last Supper. He washed the feet of His disciples and then issued the Mandatum, the mandate for them and for us: "What you have seen me do, you also must do." This was followed by the sacrament of the Lord's Body and Blood. We celebrate the Eucharist through service to others and continually experience the Presence of Christ.

Today's gospel is really an encouragement to continue to serve the Lord through serving others. It is an encouragement for our parents, particularly our Moms, whose days are spent in so many loving tasks and who are often many levels beyond tired. What you are doing is noble, and holy, and Christian. You are giving yourself in service to people whom God loves, and whom you also love, your children. How many of our Dads are also tired, and worn out by work and the stress of providing for their families? Yet, there they are coaching, leading scouts, helping with homework, and looking for new ways to engage their children. Parents must have authority over their children for the home to function properly. Your sacrifice is how you achieve this authority. It is the Christian way.

James and John had it all wrong. They wanted power, they wanted authority. Instead, Jesus called them to sacrifice and service. And when, after Pentecost, they sacrificed their lives for the sake of the Kingdom of God, they were, in fact, among the great gathered around Jesus' throne.

It's the same for us. We sacrifice for others and the sacrificial love of the Lord gives us the authority to call ourselves Christian.

May all of the faithfully departed through the mercy of God rest in peace.

Eucharistic Adoration

One of the most beautiful Teachings of our Catholic Faith is the Communion of Saints which we honor on November 1st as All Saints Day, and the day after, All Souls Day. What too many people fail to realize is what we on earth have in common with those who have gone before us. It is the "State of Grace", or the Friendship enjoyed being in union with God through the Blood of Christ, from our Baptism, the Sacrament of Adoption.

What is Grace? The Grace of Christ is the free gift that God gives to us of His own life into our soul to heal it of sin and to sanctify or make holy. It is sanctifying or deifying grace received in Baptism. It is the work or power of sanctification. (CCC. @1999) In the past, which is still true, we saints or holy ones on earth were referred to as the Church Militant. For we are all called to live our friendship with Christ Jesus by fighting off those temptations of the world which seeks money, power and prestige. We never forget the role of the devil who seeks the ruin of souls when we pray the Prayer of St. Michael the Archangel. We are all sinners, but saints in progress, one day at a time. We are lways in prayer for God's acting grace, which becomes the best habit of Love. That is why a Christian is one, in whom and through whom, Christ lives for others. We are able to believe that God loves us unconditionally, absolutely and forever. That's Grace!

Pope Benedict in June 2007, teaches us that "an intrinsic connection exists between celebration and adoration." In fact, Holy Mass is in itself, the Church's greatest act of adoration: Quoting St. Augustine: "No one eats of this flesh without first adoring it. Adoration outside of Holy Mass prolongs and intensifies what has takes place in the Mass and makes a true and profound reception of Christ possible." (Angelus 2007)

November 2nd is the Feast of All Souls. It is also First Friday. We pray for all those members of the Body of Christ who have gone before us in the friendship or grace of Christ. They are in need of our prayers for the Spirit to eradicate any selfishness left in them.

Adoration of the Real Presence begins at 9:30 a.m. in our Chapel and continues all day until Benediction (Blessing) at 9 p.m.

Please witness to your Faith in His Real Presence by signing our Adoration Book in the front of the Church for whatever time you will visit Jesus. This is the closest we can be this side of heaven to the humanity and divinity of the Risen Lord.

This week's Altar Flowers were donated in memory of Joe Petrucelli
by Darlene & sons.

Respect Life Prayer

Heavenly Father, the beauty and dignity of human life was the crowning of your creation. You further ennobled that life when your Son became one with us in His incarnation.

Help us to realize the sacredness of human life and to respect it from the moment of conception until the last moment at death.

Give us courage to speak with truth and love and with conviction in defense of life. Help us to extend the gentle hand of mercy and forgiveness to those who do not reverence your gift of life.

To all, grant pardon for the times we have failed to be grateful for your precious gift of life or to respect it in others.

We ask this in Jesus' Name.
Amen.

Lord, grant eternal rest to the souls of our dearly departed, especially for

THOMAS SAKAL &
ARTHUR 'BILL' GIBBONS

and for all those we hold in our heart who have died, may they rest in the arms of God.

Saint of the week - St. Jude Thaddeus

St. Jude wrote the canonical Epistle. Patron of desperate situations, forgotten, impossible and lost causes as well as the Diocese of St. Petersburg in Florida. St. Jude pray for us!

WHAT IS A SAINTLY RELIC?

- *A relic is an item associated with Jesus Christ, the Blessed Mother or the Saints.
- *Relics are usually displayed in containers called reliquaries so that Catholics may venerate them.
- *Church altars also sometime have a relic embedded inside them in a small block called the altar stone.

THE THREE CLASSES OF RELICS!

- *First-class relic: is a part of a Saint's body such as a bone fragment.
- *Second-class relic is a piece of a Saint's clothing or something used by a Saint.
- *Third-class relic: an object which has been touched to a first or second-class relic, including the tomb of a Saint.

WHY DO WE HAVE RELICS?

- *Relics are tangible reminders to us of the incarnational nature of our faith. The Word of God became flesh, and through the centuries countless Saints have embodied what it means to live our faith.
- *Relics also remind us that the Saints are close to God and can intercede for us when we pray to them.
