

Mrs. Prideaux's Weekly Newsletter for the Week of September 22nd, 2025

Reader's Workshop: The students will build their comprehension by focusing on sequencing, story maps, character analysis, and identifying new vocabulary. This week we will be reading "Dragons Love Tacos" by Adam Rubin.

Math Workshop: The students will be practicing counting by making groups of ten and counting on. This week they will exchange groups of ten for base ten blocks and begin to compare numbers.

Writer's Workshop: The class will be creating their own stories based on book series "The Bad Seed" by Jory John.

Religion: The students will be learning about the life of Saint Padre Pio whose feast day we will celebrate on September 23rd.

Science: The students will continue to study sharks.

Word Work: The students will identify CVC patterned words while focusing on the short "o" sound.

Have a great weekend!
