This week's focus...

Religion: This week we will continue to learn about Mother Teresa and what we can learn from her example of kindness. Friday is Saint Mother Teresa's feast day! Celebrate!

Reading: The students will continue to review schema. We will talk about reading stamina and the reading strategy "text to self".

Word Work: In class, the students will continue to review the sounds of the letters and alphabetical order.

Writer's Workshop: We will officially kick off writer's workshop by learning about what good writers do.

Math: The students will continue to learn how to add numbers up to ten.

Science: We will study sharks and the adaptations that they need to survive.

Social Studies: The students will identify the reasons why we go to school.

The students will be bringing home their homework folder. The folder will contain your child's reading log, math homework and behavior calendar. Please sign and return the calendar each night. Thank you!

I hope you all had a very restful Labor Day Weekend!
