Our Catholic faith is very important to me and so I try to incorporate a deeper understanding of the faith and profound love of God throughout the whole school day. We are all called to live holy lives and it is my goal that students strive to always follow in Jesus' footsteps and become the person and the saint God wants them to be. It warms my heart when a young student tells me he/she wants to become a saint and go to heaven!

I love teaching K5 students because they are so eager to learn. Their minds are sponges that soak up any information that you give them. My goal is to keep learning play-based and fun while still helping students strive to be independent in their school work, solve problems, work well with others, use their imagination and persevere through something that they struggle with. My classroom is a place where the students should feel free to express themselves in many ways. It is a place where students can safely make mistakes and then to find a solution. My favorite thing is when a student is excited by a discovery they made and want to tell everyone!
