REFLECTING ON THE READINGS

MORE THAN A FEELING

When the bible speaks about love you can be sure of one thing: it's not talking about romantic love.

The scriptures were written in the days of arranged marriages. Folks didn't marry because they had fallen in love, they married because their parents had arranged for them to do so. A couple might indeed fall in love over the course of time in their marriage - but that wasn't guaranteed.

Does that mean that marriages were "loveless?" It might seem that way to us as we look back to ancient times. But there was room for plenty of love in arranged marriages - all depending on how you define love.

In our own times, we often tend to understand love as an emotion, a feeling, an affection, a desire, a sentiment, a delight, an energy - and therein lies a problem.

What happens when emotions fade and fade away? What happens when feelings dissipate, when affections wane? What happens when the heat of desire cools, when our energy is spent, when sentiments change, when delight diminishes?

There's a reason why the scriptures speak of love as law, why Jesus speaks of love as a commandment.

I can promise to obey a law. I can pledge to keep a commandment. But I can neither promise nor pledge to maintain an emotion or keep a feeling alive.

Feelings and emotions can strengthen and deepen a pledge of love, but feelings and emotions alone aren't enough, aren't strong enough, not constant enough, to keep love alive.

When I make a promise to love and then things get difficult it's not always love that gets me through the hard times, rather, it's my promise that provides the bridge over troubled waters and keeps me faithful to the love I pledged.

Understood this way, love is at least as much a function of the will as it is an affair of the heart. And this is the kind of love that God, through Moses, enjoined on the people of Israel in the words of today's first reading.

For Jewish people the words of this law of love have become a prayer. It's called the Shema since in Hebrew it begins with the words Shema, Israel - Hear, O Israel: Hear, O Israel! The LORD is our God, the LORD alone! Therefore, you shall love the LORD, your God, with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength.

This is the law, the love that Jesus quotes and teaches as the greatest of all the commandments, of all the statutes and laws of God, this is the greatest.

Even to this day, observant Jews recite these words from Deuteronomy twice each day: in the morning and in the evening.

Recalling that these words form the creedal and moral basis of our nation's two largest faith groups, it would seem that in many important ways we have allowed feelings and emotions to override promise and pledge when it comes to keeping that commandment deemed the greatest by Jews and Christians alike.

It may be well past the time when we should study which dynamics of love drive our faith and shape our moral lives especially when it comes to relationships, and in particular, marriage; and when it comes to justice, especially for the marginalized and displaced, and when it comes to morality, especially when its demands infringe on our personal convenience and comfort and wealth.

And the starting point for examining such realities is in my own life and yours.

Is my response, is your response, to the commandment to love God and neighbor something that changes with the tides of emotions and feelings - or is it grounded in a pledge to live as God calls us to live, to make decisions and choices in terms of greater goods, to understand love as at least as much a matter of the will as it is an affair of the heart?

Which dynamics are modeled for us in the stories and decisions and choices we see in movies, in literature, in popular culture, in politics?

Do we live and love by emotions and affections or in faithful response to a law of love that we're called to follow, that we've pledged to follow?

At the heart of our weekly prayer on our Sabbath, the Lord's Day, we gather in the shadow of the Cross, a Cross Jesus carried upon his shoulders - not because it felt good - but because he chose to live, faithful to the love his Father asked of him. Or, as Jesus himself put it, "Not my will, but your will be done..."

May the sacrament we celebrate and receive at this table, remembering Jesus' love for us, nourish and strengthen us to love as we have been commanded to love and to do the will of God whose love for us knows no bounds.

ALLHALLOWTIDE • THE TRIDUUM OF DEATH

The three days of All Hallows' Eve, All Hallows' Day, and All Souls' Day are collectively referred to as Allhallowtide and are a time for honoring the saints and praying for all recently departed souls. The term hallow means "holy," you may recall reciting it in the Lord's Prayer "Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name" (Mt 6:9).

THE CHAPLET FOR THE DEAD

The Chaplet resembles a standard Rosary, except it has only four decades instead of five. It starts on the Cross, and has 4 introductory prayers, followed by 4 decades starting with 1 large (or pater) bead and 10 small (or ave) beads. The 5 pater beads represent the 5 wounds of Christ. The 40 ave beads are in memory of the 40 hours which Our Lord is believed to have spent in Limbo. There are 49 beads total. An indulgence of 23,300 days is granted and applied to the Holy Souls in Purgatory for each recitation of this chaplet.

On the Cross:

Out of the depths have I cried unto Thee, O Lord;

R: Lord, hear my voice.

Let thine ears be attentive

R: to the voice of my supplication.

If thou, O Lord, shalt observe our iniquities,

R: O Lord, who shall endure it?

For with thee there is merciful forgiveness;

R: and by reason of Thy law, I have waited for Thee, O Lord.

My soul hath relied on His word:

R: my soul hath hoped in the Lord.

From the morning watch even until night,

R: let Israel hope in the Lord.

Because with the Lord there is mercy,

R: and with Him plentiful redemption.

And he shall redeem Israel

R: from all his iniquities.

On the first large bead (Pater):

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord.

R: And let perpetual light shine upon them.

Act of Faith - first small bead (Ave):

My God, I believe in Thee,

R: because Thou art Truth itself; I firmly believe the truths revealed to the Church.

Act of Hope - second small bead (Ave):

My God, I hope in Thee,

R: because Thou art infinitely good.

Act of Charity - third small bead (Ave):

My God, I love Thee with all my heart, and above all things,

R: because Thou art infinitely perfect; and I love my neighbor as myself, for the love of Thee.

On all the large beads (Patens):

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord.

R: And let perpetual light shine upon them.

On All the small beads (Aves):

Sweet Heart of Jesus, R: be my love.

Sweet Heart of Mary, R: be my salvation.

At the End:

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord.

R: And let perpetual light shine upon them.

May the souls of all the faithfully departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace.

R: Amen.

May the love of God and the peace of the Lord Jesus Christ bless us and console us and gently wipe every tear from our eyes.

R: Amen.

Highlights

We have been tremendously and abundantly blessed with a strong youth group. Our first youth group meeting of the school year brought out 70+ students! Since then, we've continued to welcome large numbers of 6th- 12th grade students each Wednesday.

We began the school year by discussing friendship and deciphering ways to cultivate friendships that help us to live out our call to holiness.

We were so proud to have over 70 kids show up to serve at Catholic Charities on September 29th! We were able to fill over 600 bags of food and 500 boxes! We can't wait to go back on November 10th to serve again!

We have begun to explore different forms of prayer and to learn about practices that help us to become people with rich prayer lives. We will be practicing praying in a variety of ways and making prayer a personal part of our human experience.
