

PARISH COUNCIL 2019-2020

JOYCE WATERS

Four days after graduating from high school, Joyce started her job as an operator with Southern Bell and within a year was promoted to management. She held positions in personnel, business, marketing and engineering for over 31 years until her husband became ill and they moved to Columbus to be near his doctors. In Columbus, Joyce worked with the Victim Witness Office which led to her current position as paralegal and manager with the law office of Michael Cielinski, retired Recorders Court Judge.

Joyce is a Lector with Holy Family Church and also assists with other functions of the Church. Along the way, she has met members of the Parish Council and learned of some of the work they do with the Church. "I would like to be a part of this team that assists with the pastoral needs of the Church and I seek to be elected to serve on the Parish Council to further my service for this parish."

TYSON ANTHONY

Tyson has been a member of the Holy Family Parish since 2009. He was raised in the Methodist Church and converted to Catholicism in 2008 while living in Savannah, Georgia. He was received into the Church at the Cathedral and confirmed by Father Doug Clark. He has assisted with the RCIA program at the parish as a sponsor. He has been heavily involved in the efforts to revitalize Uptown Columbus since 1999, which is part of what brought him to the Holy Family Parish after his conversion. He currently works with Omaha Brewing Company

DUSTIN HUDGINS

Dustin James Hudgins, a Columbus native, is attuned to the needs of those around him, and has a profound respect for tradition and service. Now, having just been received into the Catholic Church this past Easter Vigil, he earnestly desires to offer his service to the Holy Family parish community, which he so dearly loves.

He is most interested in the faith formation of those in the Holy Family parish, being himself a full-time President's List student and Peer Educator at Columbus State University, a private Latin teacher, and a former member of the Professional Association of Georgia Educators

Georgia Academic Decathlon Advisory Board (where he was among the youngest members to have ever served). An historian by trade, Dustin is an avid scholar of Church history, specifically of early Roman Christianity, of the Papacy, and of the Latin language, and he is deeply intrigued by interfaith dialogue and how to be a good steward of the immense gifts with which he has been entrusted from above.

Dustin would bring a unique perspective to the Parish Council, being a member of the next generation of Catholics being raised up by God to meet the unique challenges and demands of the twenty-first century Church.
