

St. Patrick Religious Education 2022-23 School Year Instructions for Homeschool Students

Parents are an integral part of their child's religious education. Without reinforcement from you, your child will not understand the importance and value of his or her faith. The most important way to build your child's faith is to attend Mass, either in-person or online, pray together at night, before meals, and as a family. Homeschool students rely even more heavily on their parents for help in learning about their faith. There is more to homeschool than just reading the chapter.

Loyola Press has many tools to assist parents in the development of their child's faith. Parent resources can be found by visiting: <https://www.loyolapress.com/faith-formation/finding-god/finding-god-2021/parents-and-students/>. Here you will find information about how to teach multiple children at the same time, as well as Grade and Session specific lesson plans, study guides and other resources.

For Homeschool Students:

Homeschool Parents may choose to follow the order of chapters in the child's book OR to use the Religious Education Calendar* as a guide for covering topics that go together or holidays in the church at the appropriate time of year. Homeschool students are asked to complete their work by May 31, 2023 (2nd grade students should complete all chapters by May 1, 2023). A student who does not turn in his or her work will be marked as incomplete for the year if not finished by this date unless the parent has discussed extenuating circumstances with the office prior to the due date.

The green text indicates the minimum required for Homeschool Students.
