Faith & Family

Deacon Tim Sullivan

THE ROLE OF THE BIBLE IN THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

This is the third in a series about conversing with non-Catholics about the Catholic faith. Last week we talked about the role of the Catholic Church in deciding what would be in the Bible. This week we will address how the Catholic Church uses the Bible.

The Catholic Church believes that the Bible is the inspired word of God, that it is free from error and binding on Catholics. No belief or practice of the Catholic Church can be contrary to the Bible.

The readings for Sunday Mass follow a three-year cycle. Each year begins with the First Sunday of Advent and focuses on a particular Gospel: Matthew, Mark or Luke. The Gospel of John is read primarily during the Lent and Easter seasons. Weekday Masses follow a two-year cycle of Bible readings. If a Catholic goes to Mass every day of the year for 3 years, he or she will have heard all of the most important passages of the Bible.

Every Catholic family should be immersed in the Bible, using it as the best, the most completely reliable, guide for how to live. As St. Jerome said, "Ignorance of Scripture is ignorance of Christ."

*"The word of God is living and effective, sharper than any two-edged sword."
Hebrews 4:12*
