Faith & Family

Deacon Tim Sullivan

THE QUIET ZONE

One of my daughters started the idea of evening quiet time in her home. She's a teacher and an artist, so she needs some time after dinner to do lesson plans and to paint. Quiet time is a period when children and parents engage in independent and quiet activities. Parents might make some options available, such as books (especially the Bible), puzzles, games, Legos, toys, paints and papers, but the children, not the parents, are responsible for how they will spend the quiet time, which is intentionally unstructured. This fosters creativity and innovation.

During quiet time, there should be no electronics, no phone usage, and only minimal interruption. Children can do things together, as long as the noise is kept at a low level. It might help to allow soft, relaxing music in the background. Healthy, non-sugary snacks and drinks can be set aside for quiet time. Some parents use a big clock to track the time, while others want their children to engage in their activities without thinking about time. Quiet time should last at least an hour.

The rules for quiet time should be simple, clear and non-negotiable. The goals of quiet time are compromised if there are constant efforts to challenge or renegotiate the rules. Children should make a list of all the things they can do during quiet time, which can be added to as time goes on. Quiet time can end by bringing the whole family together, talking about how they spent their time and closing with family prayer.

BECOMING CATHOLIC — OCIA

Sessions to explore the Catholic faith will begin in September for non-Catholics interested in becoming Catholic and for those who are already Catholic who wish to go deeper in their faith. Non-Catholics who are interested in the sessions should contact Deacon Tim Sullivan at 918-299-9406 or at tsullivan@stbernardstulsa.org to make an appointment to meet.

WELCOME, MARY ISBELL!

Please welcome Mary Isbell to the role of Parish Life Director! Mary and her husband Tom recently moved to Tulsa after living in various places, including overseas. She has worked in Catholic communities in Germany, England, the Azores, and New York, and has always been active in parish life.

"To my new St. Bernard's family, I feel honored and blessed to have been chosen to serve as Parish Life Director. My husband, Tom, and I have 3 children and 4 grandchildren. Our daughter and her family live here in Tulsa, and Tom and I are excited to be near our four grandchildren to spoil them—then happily send them back to their parents!

Hannah kindly trained me in July while preparing for her new role and continues to make herself available for any questions I may have. I hope to continue the wonderful work that she has done and to add some new ideas, too. I would like to help people view our church as a second home. A place to deepen their faith in Christ, build meaningful relationships, give thanks, and find support through life's challenges. My goal is to encourage a deeper, more active connection with the Church by fostering a genuine sense of belonging and appreciation for the beauty, grace, and blessings of being part of the Catholic Church and the St. Bernard Catholic community. I look forward to meeting you all and working together to serve our parish. It has been a busy couple of months, but thanks to the wonderful volunteers at St. Bernard's, I've felt warmly welcomed and well supported. Please feel free to stop by the parish office anytime, whether you need something or just want to say hi! Please know that I will be praying for you, please pray for me, too."
