

F.A.I.T.H! Fully. Alive. In. The. Holy. Spirit. With the third day's focus on the third person of the Trinity, God the Holy Spirit, the kids were learning about how the Holy Spirit comes into their lives. The Saint of the Day is St. Stephen, one of the first deacons of the Church, as well as one of the first martyrs of the early Church. Cole Arroyo created the third day's poster.

Crafts for the day involved a F.A.I.T.H mobile with paper cutouts of the Trinity, Holy Spirit windsocks, and stained-glass colored pictures. The classes were all working more on their skits, songs, and plans for the talent show.

We talked to Lisa Miller about her class and what they were thinking of doing for the talent show. "We are going to do Father Abraham. We have been practicing," she explained about the littles that she was working with in her class. She enjoys the schedule that she has with them. "First, we go to Arts and Crafts, then Snack, then Recess. It is a good schedule," she said. Ms. Miller explained that her favorite thing about being a teacher at VBS is "I like teaching my faith."

For Meghan Klasic, "the excitement and joy they get, especially with singing in the morning" is her favorite part of being a teacher. They are getting ready for the talent show by focusing "on singing, because like Joyce says, when we are singing, we are praying twice."

Jan Maxwell, says her favorite thing about being an aide at VBS is "the kids. I love these little ones and their joy."

As the fourth day of VBS draws near with the talent show looming ahead, kids and teachers knuckle down to get ready to display their talents to each other and parents. We can't wait for these Dynamic Disciples to show how Alive in Christ they are with their joyful singing, enthusiastic drama re-enactments, and other imaginative creations.
