

Catholic Diocese of Fort Worth

Guidelines for Selecting Speakers

Diocesan Programs, Parishes, Movements, Apostolic Groups, Catholic Schools

The following policy applies to Pastors, Principals, Parish Directors of Religious Education, and Administrators of any Catholic institution or organization in the Diocese of Fort Worth as they consider inviting speakers who will be teaching-presenting on matters of faith and morals.

It is the responsibility of the Pastors, Principals, Diocesan Directors of Religious Education, and Administrators to present a list of potential speakers for Diocesan approval to the Office of the Bishop (for all clergy and religious), to the Diocesan Department of Catechesis (for all lay speakers). The Diocesan Bishop or designated Diocesan official e.g. Vicar General, Chancellor-Moderator of the Curia holds the right to make the final decision on a speaker lay or religious.

Under current guidelines the Bishop of the Diocese of Fort Worth has designated the Chancellor-Moderator of the Curia for the Diocese of Fort Worth to review and certify all clergy and religious who request to speak/present within the Diocese. The Department Director for Catechesis is designated to review and certify all lay speaker presentations/workshops who request to speak/present within the Diocese of Fort Worth.

To be considered to speak within the Diocese of Fort Worth, the person should be in good standing with the Roman Catholic Church. The speaker's writings and previous public presentations must also be in harmony and fidelity with the teaching and discipline of the Church as prescribed in the Catechism of the Catholic Church. A priest who left the ministerial priesthood without dispensation would not be eligible for consideration. A priest who had left the ministerial priesthood with dispensation and in good standing would be considered in a case by case basis. Those in irregular marriages or those living a lifestyle at variance with Church teaching would also not be eligible.

Any speaker who publicly promotes or advocates views which are contrary to Church teaching may not give a talk, retreat, workshop, course, etc., at Church related events, or on church, school or diocesan property in the Diocese of Fort Worth. Likewise, anyone who publicly promotes or advocates views which are contrary to Church teaching may not be given awards, honors, or other marks of public recognition.

Pastors, Principals, Parish Directors of Religious Education, and Administrators should make a prudential judgment after appropriate research about the suitability of a speaker in light of the above criteria. As a general rule, the invitation of any speaker or honoree should be an opportunity to evangelize and catechize the faithful. Thus, anything which may cause confusion or scandal or incite disrespect or dissent is to be avoided.

With regard to granting of honorary awards, degrees, special recognition or commendation, the Diocese of Fort Worth abides by the 2004 policy of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops that we should not honor those who act in defiance of our fundamental moral principles. They should not be given awards, honors or platforms that might suggest support for their actions.
