

Third Sunday of Lent
March 24, 2019

Today's reading of the bush not consumed by fire, reminds me of the burning bush we all see in the fall of the year as the colors change. A beautiful bush God created. Moses talked to God. Why don't I talk to God more often? He is there for me. I must put more effort into it. He will hear me. Another reading was the big tree not providing fruit. The tree will produce fruit by attending to it. So I have to cultivate myself to pray every day. Ask God for his blessing and repent for my sins. This may make me a better version of myself and perhaps, put a smile on God's face. Remember Jesus is my rock. I thank him every day for doing what he did for me. Dying on the cross!
