Diocese of Evansville Catholic schools set to open beginning Aug. 5

The Diocese of Evansville’s 26 Catholic schools, which are located in eight of the diocese’s 12 counties, are set to begin classes with opening days between Aug. 5 and Aug. 13. The full schedule appears below.

In June, Bishop Joseph M. Siegel and Superintendent of Catholic Schools Dr. Daryl Hagan released, Creating a Path Forward: Catholic Schools’ Considerations for Learning and Safe Schools. The plan noted that the conditions, medical landscape and growing body of knowledge surrounding COVID-19 would continue to evolve.

Dr. Hagan said July 21 that Catholic schools continue preparations to welcome students back to classes while employing every measure available to ensure the safe return of students, faculty and staff members.

He added, “We continue to collaborate with county health departments, school advisory councils, pastors, administrators, and our dedicated faculty and staff.”

The Catholic Education Office has produced FAQs regarding the start of the new school year. They are included.
