

Haiti – House #107 – The Mauge Family

Mr Mauge works as a security agent at the local University where Fr. Joe teaches. His wife Guerline sews. Together, they try their best to make a living for their family and particularly educate their 2 children. As you can see in the before picture, the life of the family is far from an easy one. The days following hurricane Matthew were spent in cars parked by a repair shop which they called home until a tarp arrived to serve as the roof of their house. They have been living in this situation since that time in the hopes that by the grace of God HMI would come to their aid. Through the generosity and good heart of the benefactors, their prayers were answered by the beautiful home one can see in the "After" picture. Thanks to all who made this miracle a reality.
