

Haiti - House #138 Kenold Luc

Kenold Luc was a teacher at St. Bridgette school in Ravine Sable until the horrible Category 4 hurricane Matthew destroyed the buildings and closed the school. Since the closure of that facility, he became jobless. Besides destroying the school where he taught, he loss all of his animals, the house in which he was living and all his crops as did so many in the community. He is living now in his brother's house with his wife Ernsie and his four children and two other children of relatives that are in worse shape than him.. He still does farming with his courageous wife who sells whatever she can to help her husband. The selection committee decided that he and his family deserved to have a home, especially since he had property that belonged to him. Kenold and his wife Ernsie send their deepest gratitude to all who helped to give them a hand up to get back on their feet.
