

Haiti - House #198 Nono Jean Louis

Nono Jean Louis is in his 80s. He is a widower and father of five who lives now with one of his children and a grandchild. He lives towards the last well in Ravine Sable (which is several miles from Numero Deux). The recent loss of one of his daughters and the sudden departure of a son to Port-Au-Prince had affected him so much that he had almost lost the will to live. He is a catholic but is unable to attend church often because of his age and the distance he has to walk. The roof of his house was so deteriorated that it was no longer able to protect him during the tropical rains and hurricane season. The HMI selection team was so happy to advise Mr. Nono that he would be receiving a new home. The news brought him such joy that everyone could see that he had hope once again in his life. Praise God that Nono will enjoy a better place to finish his time on the planet earth. God bless all who helped bring some degree of happiness back into his life.
