

Well # 39 - University

University Publique de la Grande Anse (UPGA) located in the Chateau community outside Jeremie, Haiti had the problem of insufficient potable water. The Catholic law school in Jeremie was able to partner with HMI to find funding to drill this well in order to bring a continuous source of water to the school as well as help to resolve the water shortage problem in the area by developing a distribution process for neighboring families. The water in this well is of a good quality.
