

HOLY CROSS CYO RULES

Holy Cross CYO supervisors, coaches, and referees give their time and talent to this program because they are dedicated to the ideal of providing a quality sports opportunity for our city's young adults, and a clean and safe place in which to play. All they ask in return is for the players to observe these few simple rules:

- No cussin'. Inappropriate language is unacceptable. (You are all old enough to know what language is inappropriate.)
- Sportsmanship. Dirty play, fighting or generally obnoxious behavior (including arguing or whining about referees' calls) are not acceptable – whether you're in a game or in the stands as a spectator.
- Respect. Players are expected to treat referees, coaches, gym supervisors, opposing players, teammates, equipment, facilities, and fans with respect.
- Facilities. Any vandalism to the gym facilities or equipment will result in sanctions ranging from the immediate disqualification of the offending player to the cancelation of the entire season for the entire program, or anything in between, as the circumstances warrant.

This Code of Conduct applies whether you are in the gym for a game, practice, or as a spectator. These rules are not exclusive. Any conduct deemed inappropriate but not specifically covered by these rules will be dealt with as the circumstances dictate.

In order for the season to be more meaningful, and to impart a greater sense of order, the following Procedures are established:

- A player may only participate in his own team's games unless otherwise approved according to league rules.
- A player may not jump from one team to another after the second week of the season.
- No player may participate unless he has paid his $35.00 Participation Fee.
- Players are expected to wear their team's uniform during games.
