JANUARY 29, 2017 | FOURTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Catholic Schools Week
JANUARY 29 through FEBRUARY 3

PHILOSOPHY
At St. Pascal Baylon Catholic School, we strive to share the love of Christ with those around us as we learn and grow spiritually, emotionally and academically.

MISSION
St. Pascal Baylon is a school of excellence in the East Metro where our students’ lives are transformed in a Catholic, faith-centered environment focused on innovation, service to our community and the cultivation of each student’s potential.
Dear Friends:

During this recent transition time of national political leadership, I have been pondering a few things. The first is President Obama’s statement that we need to rally around President Trump because "if he succeeds then we all succeed." I don’t believe that is necessarily true. (And I don’t intend to be partisan here). A lot depends upon what any president is trying to accomplish. I don’t want to encourage the "success" of any leader whose intentions are not consistent with my moral values. I think I understand Mr. Obama’s sentiment, that it is preferable to be united as a nation rather than conflicted. Nobody is going to argue with that. But it isn’t quite as simple as his statement made it sound. It is not difficult to look around the world today and to identify people and regimes that seem to be "successful" in their stated purposes but which are inhumane. Perhaps the most obvious example is Syria, where President Assad has been astonishingly successful in retaining his power, at the expense of ruining his country and murdering his own citizens. Mr. Obama, of all people, knows this.

Another recent and related rumination of mine concerns the boycott of the inauguration by quite a few members of congress. They were exorciated by some as being disdainful of America or of dishonoring the democratic process. Once again, it isn’t that simple. A decision to be physically present or absent for a symbolic, public ritual is itself a highly symbolic act. By that I mean that symbols by their very nature don't mean exactly one thing. I'm willing to bet that none of the members of congress who absented themselves believed that they were making any anti-American statement by doing so. But obviously it is quite possible for others to interpret it that way. That is the messy result of symbolic communication.

And, by the way, words also are symbols, which is why it is so essential that we use them wisely and accurately. When I taught high school religion long ago I used to illustrate this point by inscribing the word "yellow" on the classroom blackboard. The chalk was white and the slate board was black. There was nothing remotely resembling the color of yellow in that word, but everybody knew what I was talking about because we have all learned to associate that set of letters, lines and curves with things like bananas and lemons. Words are symbols that depend upon the interpreter to determine what they mean. Any non-English reader looking at the same blackboard would see only gibberish in the word "yellow."

And that brings me back to one last thought on the recent inauguration. It was the comment by Rep. John Lewis on TV that "I don’t see Trump as a legitimate president." Whatever one thinks about that opinion it is clear that the use of that word-symbol was explosive and subject to a wide range of understanding. Everyone has his/her own interpretation of what "legitimacy" means.

I don’t intend these comments to be too heady or abstract. Just the opposite. The words we use every day, the places where we choose to show up and people with whom we opt to gather are already symbolic expressions of what we value. We should be very thoughtful about all of that.

Baptism for Older Children

According to the guidelines of the Church, once a child has reached the age of reason (generally considered age 7), s/he then follows the preparation process for the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults. This process involves you and your child walking with other children and adults over a period of time to grow into what it means to be a disciple of Jesus. If you have a child over the age of 7 who is not yet baptized, or has been baptized in another faith tradition and would like to become Catholic, please contact Kim Roering in the parish office to begin a conversation.

Breaking Bread with Jesus: _Meals in the Gospels_ with Art Zannoni

Thursdays—February 9, 16 & 23 from 7:00-9:00 PM in Brioschi Hall

Throughout the Gospels, Jesus shares meals with a variety of people. For Jesus, a meal was more than a way to fill his stomach. A meal was a way to teach the love God was extending to all men and women, especially those most in need of God’s message. Jesus’ meals with the poor, sinners, and outcasts were signs of solidarity with those despised and rejected. Often outsiders were included in Jesus’ table fellowship. These meals were signs of the future heavenly banquet—what it would be like to be dining in the kingdom of God. This 3-part series will explore the meal stories in the synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Mark, and Luke) to provide participants with a better understanding of what it means to practice Christian fellowship. Emphasis will be placed on both the similarities and differences in each meal story. A free will offering will be taken.

“The Seasons of Faith” with Deacon Mickey Friesen

Half-day Retreat for the women of Blessed Sacrament and St. Pascal’s Saturday, February 18, 9:00 AM - 12 Noon at Blessed Sacrament

We will explore how our faith lives can mirror the seasons of nature. Each season has a role to play in the growth of life toward harvest time. For us, the seasons of our faith each have something to say to us about what it means to live a “fruitful life” or “abundant life” that Jesus calls us to: “I came that they may have life in abundance,” (Jn 10:10). There will be time for presentations, quiet prayer and reflection questions. Please RSVP by calling the Blessed Sacrament parish office at 738.0677 by February 15 if you plan to attend.
