Wednesday - 9:30 am
Dear Friends:

From a very young age in Catholic school I was a forced participant in music/choir class. The enduring benefit of that is that I learned to love to sing, not only churchy songs but also all kinds of other tunes. The bad part of it is that it drilled in to my young brain, in addition to great sacred melodies, a whole lot of other insipid tunes and rhymes that one spends years in adulthood trying to forget, usually without success. For some reason today, and I can't imagine why, I have been trying to fend off the song "Que Sera Sera," which I was taught as a kid, and which some of us of a certain age will remember as the theme song for the short-lived and rightfully forgotten "Doris Day Show" on TV back in the 1960s. "Que Sera Sera," translated from the Spanish, and in the song itself, means "Whatever will be will be." I recall from my fourth grade singing class that the song began with these words: "When I was just a child in school, I asked my Mother, what shall I be? Will I be pretty? Will I be rich? Here's what she said to me: Queeeeeeeeen...... Sera, Sera......." Docile school children just sing the songs that their teachers put into their hands, even if the meaning of the words should cause them to question what in the world they are talking about.

"Que Sera Sera." Really? We are just walking around each day ready to accept and accommodate "whatever will be will be!" That's actually one of the most anti-Christian sentiments that I can imagine, but hey, it was the '60s, man. However, Resurrection and Pentecost meant then, and still mean today, that we are not just subject to whatever whims and accidents of fate come about when it comes to our commitments to change the world. We Easter people are meant to be agents for mercy, justice, charity, and Kingdom-building. We are the ones who push back against the notion, so prevalent out there, that "whatever will be will be." No. "Whatever will be" is going to be the result of our own decision-making, whether that be about our climate, our politics, our structures of institutions, public and church-ly, and the commitments we make about how to welcome strangers, insist on justice, and provide for the most vulnerable in our midst. That's not "Que Sera Sera." That's gospel resolve. It is relatively easy to be tempted to think that what we do, day-to-day, doesn't much matter in the forming of our culture toward something new and better, but it is the Easter story that requires that we think otherwise. Do we truly believe this? If so, then let us be about our responsibility to do something. If not, then why are we here, exactly? "Que Sera Sera" is not much more than an expression of despair and helplessness.

Some of these thoughts were triggered by my service, again, last week, as the invited prayer leader for the day at the Minnesota State Senate. I've been exercising that role now, one day per year, for about a decade, and every time I go to the Capitol I'm reminded that my prayer is to be non-partisan, non-denominational, and non-religiously specific. It's as if I'm supposed to pray, in public, to a God who doesn't stand for anything, certainly not anything that might offend somebody. It's all very polite. But my God does, in fact, stand for something. I hope your God does too. And on that very day the Senate was taking up and voting on the issue of the minimum wage for workers in Minnesota cities. I don't know that my God, and yours, stands for a specific piece of legislation, or for a specific dollar amount of income, but my God most certainly stands against the exploitation of workers by not paying them a wage sufficient to raise a family or to pay the rent. It felt to me that my prayer that day didn't much count for anything. I wondered, not for the first time, what I was doing there. Que Sera Sera.

It is a courageous translation to take our faith in resurrection into real life, into the actual decisions that affect the way that people live. That is our call, though. This Christianity business is not without its risks. If we don't get that, then maybe we need to be more deliberate about it.

Fr. Mike Byron

Easter Vigil Candle Cups
Can you help clean the candle cups used during our beautiful Easter Vigil? This is a simple but very helpful ministry you can do in your home. Instructions are provided. Call Sharon Balcom in the parish office if you can help.

First Wednesday Mass & Dessert
Marian Center St. Paul—200 Earl Street
Wednesday, May 3—Mass is celebrated at 1:00 PM followed by dessert at 1:30 across from the Snack Shop.
Join St. Pascal Friends for dessert every 1st Wednesday of the month and enjoy some time with some of your parish friends. Invite anyone who would enjoy visiting folk from St. Pascal’s. We hope to see you there!

Women’s Book Club
Monday, May 8 at 7:00 PM
Have you ever thought about coming to the St. Pascal’s Women’s Book Club? We meet in The Founder’s Room on the 2nd Monday of each month. You can come as often as your schedule allows. This month we will discuss Please Look After Mom by Kyungsook Shin and on June 12 we’ll share our thoughts about Three Weissmanns of Westport by Cathleen Schine.

Leadership Nomination Process
Nominations are open until May 2
Please take time to consider prayerfully those you feel possess the gifts to serve as leaders in our parish, including yourself. Nomination forms will be in the pews through April 30. Return your completed nomination form today in the collection basket. You can also drop it by the parish office or e-mail your nomination to church@stpascals.org with LEADERSHIP NOMINATION in the subject line. For more information, please call Ann Karner, Parish Council Chairperson, at 651.330.0024.

Baptized in Christ
We welcome into our community of faith
Zitamara Emmanuella Okokpu child of Ifeanyi and Emmanuel who was recently Baptized in our church.
May God bless this household of faith.

In Christ We Live Forever
Please remember in your prayers...
June Teidemann
who was recently buried from our church.
We extend our sincere sympathy to her family and friends, and pray for her soul’s eternal peace.

Men’s Retreat: Led by the Spirit—Saturday, May 20, 9:00 AM-Noon
Join Deacon Richard and men of St. Pascal’s as we spend a morning discovering the joy of living a life moved by the Spirit. Through scripture, prayer, and sharing we will see how receiving the Holy Spirit allows the love between the Father and the Son to pour into our hearts. All men are invited, please contact the parish office to let us know you are coming. Refreshments provided.

FAITH FORMATION NEWS

VIRTUS Training Session
Wednesday, May 10
6:00-9:00 PM in Brioschi Hall
Are you planning to help with Vacation Bible School or Summer Stretch this year? Or possibly volunteering with children/youth in the parish or school this next year? The Archdiocesan Office for the Protection of Children and Youth (OPCY) requires that all adults working with children and youth fulfill the Essential 3 requirements (for new volunteers) or the Enhanced Essential 3 (for those who completed Essential 3 prior to July 1, 2014).

All NEW volunteers working with children are required to complete the following:
• VIRTUS Safe Environment Training—Live Session AND Mandated Reporting Training (online). If you need to attend a live VIRTUS training session, one will be held at St. Pascal’s on Wednesday, May 10. You can register to attend this session by going to www.virtusonline.org.
• Background Check (complete online)
• View Code of Conduct Training and sign 2016 Code of Conduct (complete online)

All CURRENT volunteers who were originally checked or trained prior to July 1, 2014 are required to update their compliance by:
• If VIRTUS live training was completed, then view the Keeping the Promise Alive training video online AND view the Mandated Reporting Training video, respond to questions at end of each one (online)
• Complete background check/recheck form (online)
• View Code of Conduct Training and sign the 2016 Volunteer Code of Conduct (online)

Current volunteers who signed up for VIRTUS online can access their account by going to www.virtusonline.org and entering username and password. If you have forgotten your username and the email associated with your account, contact Kim Roering in the parish office.

Complete instructions for both new and current volunteers is available on the parish website’s Volunteer Information page.

Heart Questions

When he was at the table with the disciples, he took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them. Then their eyes were opened, and they recognized him; and he vanished from their sight.

LUKE 24:30–31

Adult: In what way have you come to know Jesus better through the breaking of the bread at Eucharist?

Child: When you join Jesus at the table of the Eucharist next Sunday, what would you like to thank him for?

Recognizing Christ

Today's Readings: Acts 2:14, 22–33; Psalm 16:1–2, 5, 7–8, 9–10, 11; 1 Peter 1:17–21; Luke 24:13–35. After encountering a stranger, two disciples have a conversion of heart. As impossible as that may seem to be on the surface, the Gospel today is full of the newly possible. Not recognizing the Risen Christ is the first impossibility. Most of us are quick to judge by appearances. Who is this stranger? Why is this person whom I do not know approaching me? If Christ were to come to me today, what would he look like? That is the question we must ask if we are to believe that Christ is alive and present in the world.

The second impossibility is the topic of conversation. Purposefully fleeing Jerusalem, two disciples are committed to hiking to Emmaus, just beyond the reach of Jerusalem's influence. Yet the topic begins with them laying out their concerns to this stranger: the disbelief that Jesus, one of their own, has been killed and, then even more unbelievable, perhaps risen from the dead. It is all too confusing. Yet this stranger, chiding them for their foolishness, walks the distance with them, teaching them and revealing hidden truths to them. Later they confess that their hearts were burning within them on the road.

However, the final action—the sacramental moment for the two—is Jesus taking bread, blessing it, breaking it, and sharing it with them. This is the moment of revelation for them: knowing Jesus through the breaking of the bread and all that that implies. We, too, find our way to moments of knowing Jesus: in the least of the strangers we encounter, in others opening up the meaning of Scripture and faith for us, and in the blessing and breaking of bread.

Blessed, Broken, Shared

Generous God,
you who have given your people so many blessings:
who saved them from a life of slavery in Egypt,
and who blessed them with a land flowing with milk and honey;
You walked with your disciples on the paths they chose,
and blessed them with bread and fish;
Bless us this day as we yearn to find you along the way,
and strive to know you in strangers and Scripture,
in shared meals and broken bread.
May our hearts burn with your love and may our generous spirits be unleashed for others who also seek to know you.
We ask this through your Son and our Lord, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.
THIS WEEK AT HOME

Monday, May 1

See the Glory of God

We hear in today’s Gospel, “This is the work of God, that you believe in him whom he has sent.” During this Easter Time, you might reflect the joy of your belief in your surroundings. Water your flowers and open the blinds! Let in the sunlight, lighten your spaces where you live and work. How is the Easter season celebrated visually in your parish, in your home, in your life? It is not enough to sing alleluia, although it is necessary. Does your face reflect the joy of the season?

Tuesday, May 2

St. Athanasius

When the Apostles look for a sign, they tell Jesus of the manna that was sent to their ancestors in the desert. Jesus tells them, “I am the bread of life. Whoever comes to me will never be hungry, and whoever believes in me will never be thirsty.” During this Easter season, we have time to take these words to heart. How do we take in and share the bread of life that we are given in Christ? Today’s Readings: Acts 7:51—8:1a; Psalm 31:3cd–4, 6 and 7b and 8a, 17 and 21ab; John 6:30–35.

Wednesday, May 3

Sts. Philip and James, Apostles

In the middle of the Easter season, it is appropriate to remember the Twelve, who were witnesses of Jesus’ years of ministry, as well as his Passion, Death, and Resurrection. From their witness, they proclaimed to their death the meaning of the Paschal Mystery. The Apostles’ lives are both a reminder and an invitation for us to continue to live and witness to that same mystery. Today’s Readings: 1 Corinthians 15:1–8; Psalm 19:2–3, 4–5; John 14:6–14.

Thursday, May 4

Baptism Offered for All

When Philip baptizes the eunuch in today’s passage from the Acts of the Apostles, we know that this adds meaning to the universality of Baptism in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. The Sacrament of Baptism continues to root all Christians in the fullness of life in the Trinity. As you make the Sign of the Cross today, call to mind all the baptized, who share in your faith and calling. Today’s Readings: Acts 8:26–40; Psalm 66:8–9, 16–17, 20; John 6:44–51.

Friday, May 5

Sharing in the Paschal Mystery

The Eucharist proclaims a sharing in Christ’s Body and Blood, and also a sharing in Christ’s Death and Resurrection. When we partake of the Eucharist, we are gaining life everlasting. It is only when we fully enter into the mystery of Christ, as did Paul in today’s First Reading, that we can be nourished enough to go out into the world and “proclaim Jesus.” Today’s Readings: Acts 9:1–20; Psalm 117:1bc, 2; John 6:52–59.

Saturday, May 6

Everlasting Life

The belief that Jesus is the “Holy One of God,” prompts Peter to proclaim not only his belief and loyalty to Jesus. Peter is all in. He states that he could not turn his back on Jesus, since he is God. To whom else could he possibly turn? It is only through Jesus that we have the holiness of God revealed completely. He has the words of everlasting life. Today’s Readings: Acts 9:31–42; Psalm 116:12–13, 14–15, 16–17; John 6:60–69.
Thank you to all who donated money for flowers and enhancements for our worship space during this holy season.
