JANUARY 7, 2023 THE EPIPHANY OF THE LORD

Dear friends,

As I write this, I am thinking about all the ways you have gifted me with all the cards filled with words of gratitude and encouragement that you sent my way this Christmas. I am blessed. Thanks also to all of you who made donations to our food fund for our friends in Haiti. You have honored me and given life sustaining food to the children of Haiti at the same time. And thank you for all your gift cards and other goodies you sent my way. I will think of you with great affection as I get my daily cup(s) of coffee!

REBUILDING OUR CHURCH UPDATE

This week our friends from Spaetti Construction installed the stone ledges to our handicapped west entrance to the church. Our handrail contractor is manufacturing the railings for this entrance and we are hopeful that it will be completed and installed in the next few weeks. We still are waiting for good weather to install the large louvers in the church steeple and the work on our church steeple and cross.

Our carpet folks tell us that our carpet is still scheduled for delivery on January 15. If that holds true, our carpet folks tell us to allow a week for them to complete their work. We'll be looking for some help to move the pews from the storage building to the church and to return all the chairs to their storage space in the gym. All that will depend on whether or not our carpet does get delivered when they say it will. We'll put the word out when we need help.

One of the other projects that we wanted to complete was to install a culvert and fill in the ditch all the St. Joseph Road just west of our present cemetery. If you have been by there recently you will have noticed that this project is almost complete. We still need several more loads of dirt to complete the project and we have to do some concrete work where the current culvert hooks into the new culvert. Thanks to Ben Niemeier and his crew for doing all this work and to the folks at Kraft Nursery for providing the grass seed and straw covering.

We have three other projects that we will be working on in the next months. The first of these is installing new storage cabinets in five of our school classrooms. We are making plans for this to happen when school ends next May. Also on the list are building a columbarium for cremain burials in our cemetery and repairing and resealing our parking lot. Plans are under-way for both of these projects.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR
SUPER SUNDAY
DAY OF CELEBRATION
Sunday, February 11
Mass 9 AM
Reception 10 AM
Catered Lunch 11 AM

Now it is time to celebrate. A group of folks have been working on the details of this celebration. Here is what they have come up. The date is Sunday, February 11. Yes it is Super Bowl Sunday, but don't worry, you'll be home in plenty of time to watch the game. We're calling our celebration our Super Sunday Day of Celebration. We're going to begin our day with a special mass of thanksgiving at 9 am. Because this is such a special celebration, we are going to deviate from our normal 8 AM and 10:30 AM mass schedule and just have one mass at 9 AM.

After Mass we are inviting you to join us in the school gym for an informal reception followed by a buffet lunch at 11 am. Now, we are pretty good about cooking meals around here, but for this day, we want everyone to have the chance to sit back, relax and enjoy each other's company. So this meal is going to be catered. Your only job is to come, enjoy some good food and good company, and join us in giving thanks.

This is a celebration of our remodeled church, but mostly a celebration of the hard work and dedication you have for our parish. That dedication was on display in so many ways these past nine months. You have been so central to this remarkable undertaking, from the hands-on work you have done to providing the money needed to make it all happen.

This is a no-charge affair and we hope to have as many parishioners attending as possible. This week you will be receiving your invitation to come and join us. In order to have enough food for everyone, we need to get a count to our caterer to ensure we have enough food for everyone. We need to hear from you by January 20th. So, fill out the card and get it back to us. I look forward to celebrating with you.

Leaning into the journey of life

Fr. Gene Schroeder

HAVE YOU BOUGHT YOUR ST JOE
LOTTERY TICKET FOR 2024?

In this year of Eucharistic
Renewal, we continue reading Pope Francis's teaching letter (encyclical) entitled *Laudato
Si—Caring for Our Common Home*

This ecological conversion involves various attitudes which are combined to activate generous care full of tenderness. In the first place it implies gratitude and gratuitousness, that is to say, a recognition of the world as a gift received from the love of the Father. It also implies loving awareness of not being separated from other creatures, but of forming a stupendous universal communion with the other beings of the universe.

For the believer, the world does not contemplate itself from without but from within, recognizing the bonds with which the Father has united us to all beings. Furthermore, by increasing the peculiar abilities that God has given to each believer, ecological conversion leads him to develop his creativity and enthusiasm, in order to resolve the tragedies of the world, offering himself to God "as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable" (Rom 12: 1). He does not interpret his superiority as a motive for personal glory or irresponsible domination, but as a different capacity which in turn imposes on him a grave responsibility that derives from his faith.

Various convictions of our faith, developed at the beginning of this Encyclical, help to enrich the meaning of this conversion, such as the awareness that every creature reflects something of God and has a message to transmit to us, or the certainty that Christ has assumed in himself this material world and now, risen, dwells in the depths of every being, surrounding it with its affection and penetrating it with its light.

When we read in the Gospel that Jesus speaks of birds and says that "not one of them is forgotten before God" (Lk12,6), will we be able to mistreat them and harm them? I invite all Christians to make explicit this dimension of their own conversion, allowing the strength and light of the grace received to extend also to the relationship with other creatures and with the world around them, and arouse that sublime brotherhood with all of creation that heals them. This is what Francis of Assisi lived so brightly.

JOY AND PEACE

Christian spirituality proposes an alternative way of understanding the quality of life, and encourages a prophetic and contemplative lifestyle, capable of deeply rejoicing without being obsessed with consumption. It is important to accept an ancient teaching, present in various religious traditions, and also in the Bible. It is the belief that "less is more". In fact, the constant accumulation of possibilities to consume distracts the heart and prevents you from appreciating everything and every moment. On the contrary, being present serenely in front of every reality, however small it may be, opens up many more possibilities for understanding and personal fulfillment.

Christian spirituality proposes a growth in sobriety and an ability to enjoy with little. It is a return to simplicity that allows us to stop and enjoy the little things, to be grateful for the possibilities that life offers without clinging to what we have or saddening ourselves for what we do not possess. This requires avoiding the dynamics of domination and the mere accumulation of pleasures.

Sobriety, lived with freedom and awareness, is liberating. It is not less life, but quite the opposite. In fact, those who taste the most and live every moment better are those who stop pecking here and there, always looking for what they do not have, and experience what it means to appreciate each person and everything, they learn to familiarize themselves with the simplest realities and they know how to enjoy it. In this way they are able to reduce unmet needs and decrease tiredness and anxiety. You may need little and live a lot, especially when you are able to give space to other pleasures and find satisfaction in fraternal encounters, in service, in putting your gifts to good use, in music and art, in contact with nature, in prayer.
