JANUARY 1, 2023 SOLEMNITY OF MARY MOTHER OF GOD

Dear friends,

And so we begin another year. I'm at the point in my life when I know that I have had more years behind me than I am going to have in the future. While I have no sense of impending doom, this does make me more aware of just how I want to spend whatever time I have left. This week I came across again these words of Fr. Henri Nouwen. If I was in the habit of making a New Year's Resolution, I don't think I could do better than to try to live up to the the spirit expressed in these words.

As I grow older, I discover more and more that the greatest gift I have to offer is my own joy of living, my own inner peace, my own silence and solitude, my own sense of well-being. When I ask myself, "Who helps me the most?" I must answer, "The one who is willing to share his or her life with me."

If you dare to believe that you are beloved before you are born, you may suddenly realize that your life is very, very special. You become conscious that you were sent here just for a short time, for twenty, forty, or eighty years, to discover and believe that you are a beloved child of God. The length of time doesn't matter. You are sent into this world to believe in yourself as God's chosen one and then to help your brothers and sisters know that they are also Beloved Sons and Daughters of God who belong together. You're sent into this world to be a people of reconciliation. You are sent to heal, to break down the walls between you and your neighbors, locally, nationally, and globally. Before all distinctions, the separations, and the walls built on foundations of fear, there was a unity in the mind and heart of God. Out of that unity, you are sent into this world for a little while to claim that you and every other human being belongs to the same God of Love who lives from eternity to eternity.

The more I think about the human suffering in our world and my desire to offer a healing response, the more I realize how crucial it is not to allow myself to become paralyzed by feelings of impotence and guilt. More important than ever is to be very faithful to my vocation to do well the few things I am called to do and hold on to the joy and peace they bring me. I must resist the temptation to let the forces of darkness pull me into despair and make me one more of their many victims. I have to keep my eyes fixed on Jesus and on those who followed him and trust that I will know how to live out my mission to be a sign of hope in this world.

It is remarkable how easy it is to bless others, to speak good things to and about them, to call forth their beauty and truth, when you yourself are in touch with your own blessedness. The blessed one always blesses. And people want to be blessed! No one is brought to life through curses, gossip, accusations, or blaming. There is so much taking place around us all the time. And it calls forth only darkness, destruction, and death. As the "blessed ones," we can walk through this world and offer blessings. It doesn't require much effort. It flows naturally from our hearts. When we hear within ourselves the voice calling us by name and blessing us, the darkness no longer distracts us. The voice that calls us the Beloved will give us words to bless others and reveal to them that they are no less blessed than we.

A few thank you's you are in order. Thanks to Jodi Fehrenbacher who also helped with the church decorations. Special thanks to Bob and Peter Fehrenbacher and Ryan Niemeier for clearing the sidewalks and parking lot. You get extra graces for doing all that work in the cold weather!

You may have noticed the new doors that were installed at the front entrance of the church. Keith Fehrenbacher and crew from Fehrenbacher Wood Specialties crafted and installed them last week. They are just the latest display of great craftsmanship of our parishioners that can be found throughout our church.

Thanks to all of you who have responded so generously to our CPC campaign this year. We've reached 99% of our goal with only $1,700 to go to reach our goal. Thanks as well to all those who have contributed to our Haiti Gifts of Compassion Campaign. And thanks to those who purchased lottery tickets again this year. There is still time to get your name in the pot!

Thanks to all those who have honored me my giving money for food for our friends in Haiti. Finally a word of thanks to all those who have blessed me with cards, gifts, well wishes, cookies, chicken noodle soup, deer salami, quiche, cinnamon rolls, chocolates of all types and sizes, and all amazingly without any calories. Who could ask for more? I am truly blessed!

Leaning into the journey of life,

Fr. Gene Schroeder

THE FUTURE

For God's sake, be done
with this jabber of "a better world."
What blasphemy! No "futuristic" twit or child thereof ever in embodied light will see a better world than this,
though they foretell inevitably a worse.
Do something! Go cut the weeds beside the oblivious road. Pick up the cans and bottles, old tires, and dead predictions. No future can be stuffed into this presence except by being dead. The day is clear and bright, and overhead
the sun not yet half finished with his daily praise.

POPE FRANCIS URBI & ORBI MESSAGE

"TO THE CHURCH AND TO THE WORLD"

Dear brothers and sisters in Rome and throughout the world, happy Christmas!

On this festive day, we turn our gaze to Bethlehem. Jesus is born in our midst; he is God with us. He comes to accompany our daily lives, to share with us in all things: our joys and sorrows, our hopes and fears. He comes as a helpless child. He is born in the cold night, poor among the poor. In need of everything, he knocks at the door of our heart to find warmth and shelter.

Like the shepherds of Bethlehem, surrounded by light, may we set out to see the sign that God has given us. May we overcome our spiritual drowsiness and the shallow holiday glitter that makes us forget the One whose birth we are celebrating. Let us leave behind the hue and din that deadens our hearts and makes us spend more time in preparing decorations and gifts than in contemplating the great event: the Son of God born for us.

Let us and listen to the first faint cries of the Prince of Peace. For truly Jesus is our peace. By his incarnation, passion, death and resurrection, he has opened the way that leads from a world closed in on itself and oppressed by the dark shadows of enmity and war, to a world that is open and free to live in fraternity and peace. Let us follow that road! Let us divest ourselves of the burdens that weigh us down and block our way.

If we want it to be Christmas, the Birth of Jesus and of peace, let us contemplate the face of the Child who is born for us! And in that small and innocent face, let us see the faces of all those children who, everywhere in the world, long for peace.

Let us also see the faces of our Ukrainian brothers and sisters who are experiencing this Christmas in the dark and cold, far from their homes due to the devastation caused by ten months of war. May the Lord inspire us to offer concrete gestures of solidarity to assist all those who are suffering, and may he enlighten the minds of those who have the power to silence the thunder of weapons and put an immediate end to this senseless war!

On this day, as we sit around a well-spread table, let us remember all those, especially children, who go hungry while huge amounts of food daily go to waste and resources are being spent on weapons. And as we enjoy gathering with our loved ones, let us think of families that experience great hardship and those that, in this time of economic crisis, are struggling as a result of unemployment and lacking in the necessities of life.

Today may we not forget the many displaced persons and refugees who knock at our door in search of some comfort, warmth and food. Let us not forget the marginalized, those living alone, the orphans, the elderly - who are wisdom for their people - who risk being set aside, and prisoners, whom we regard solely for the mistakes they have made and not as our fellow men and women.

Bethlehem shows us the simplicity of God, who reveals himself not to the wise and the intelligent but to the little ones, to those with a pure and open heart. Like the shepherds, let us allow ourselves to be amazed by the unthinkable event of God who becomes one with us. Let us allow ourselves to be deeply moved by the love of God. And let us follow Jesus, who stripped himself of his glory in order to give us a share in his fullness.
