MARCH 26, 2023 THE FIFTH SUNDAY OF LENT

Dear friends,

So, there I was, sitting in the dentist chair for my twice yearly teeth cleaning. I had a wonderfully competent dental hygienist who took care of me. "Have you been flossing?" Ugh! Caught again! "You seem a bit anxious." Well, truth be told, I get that way when people take sharp and pointy objects and stick them in my mouth. I never quite understood why people always tell you not to scrape your teeth with sharp objects because it will ruin the enamel on your teeth. And then you go to the dentist and they use sharp objects to scrap the plaque off your teeth! Oh well, another mystery in life. When she finished, my dentist came in to do his exam. He knew about all the excitement happening in our parish with the roof being torn off our church. So he asks me, "What do you think God is trying to tell us?"

I have found that when most people ask this kind of question they think the answer is likely to have some negative overtones. A little bit like God telling us that this event is a warning and we had better get our act together or we're going to be in big trouble. I'm not sure why we think God acts this way. Maybe it is because, if we were God, we would respond this way.

Truth be told, I think God speaks to us in all sorts of ways and in all kinds of events. And while much of what God says can be challenging, I think God's words to us are always centered in mercy and compassion. "Do not be afraid." "I have called you as my own." "Before you were born, I knew you and held you in the palm of my hand." "I have come so that you might have life and have it in abundance."

Somehow this image of God often gets lost, and the demanding, judgmental image of God appears front and center. And one of the worst places it comes out is when we make judgments about ourselves. It seems the most important thing we can do for each other is to help them see themselves as God sees them. And God sees us as his beloved sons and daughters.

Here's something I came across recently. Western culture places great emphasis on being kind and compassionate to our friends, family and neighbors who are struggling...but not so when it comes to ourselves. When we make a mistake or fail in some way, we are more likely to hit ourselves over the head with a club than put a supportive arm around our own shoulder. Most likely, even the thought of comforting ourselves in this way seems absurd. And even when our problems stem from forces beyond our control, self-kindness/compassion is not a culturally valued response. Somewhere along the line, we get the message that strong individuals should be stoic and silent toward their own suffering...like John Wayne in a western.

Part of self-compassion means that we stop the constant self-judgment and disparaging internal commentary that most of us have come to see as normal. Self-kindness/compassion requires us to UNDERSTAND our foibles and failures instead of condemning them.

But self-kindness/compassion involves more than merely stopping self-judgment. It involves ACTIVELY comforting ourselves...responding just as we would to a dear friend in need. It means we allow ourselves to be emotionally moved by our own pain, stopping to say, "This is really difficult right now...how can I care for and comfort myself in this moment?" With self-kindness, we soothe and calm our troubled minds. We make a peace offering of warmth, gentleness and compassion FROM ourselves to ourselves, so that true healing can occur.

Self-compassion is an incredibly powerful tool for dealing with difficult emotions...it can enhance our well-being. One of the most robust and consistent findings in the research literature is that people who are more self-compassionate tend to be less anxious and depressed.

We will gather in our school gym for these services. During these services we will use share a reflection on the Stations of the Cross as our examination of conscience.

FIRST HE LOOKED CONFUSED

I could not lie anymore
so I started to call my dog "God."

First, he looked confused,
then he started smiling,
then he even danced.

I kept at it.
Now he doesn't even bite.
I am wondering if this might work on people?

CARING FOR OUR COMMON HOME

In this year of Eucharistic Renewal, we continue reading Pope Francis's teaching letter (encyclical) entitled Laudato Si—Caring for Our Common Home and seeing the real presence of God in all things.

And then we cannot think that political programs or the force of the law will be enough to avoid behaviors that affect the environment, because when it is the culture that is corrupted and no objective truth or universally valid principles is recognized anymore, the laws will be understood only as arbitrary impositions and obstacles to be avoided.

THE NEED TO DEFEND THE JOB

In any formulation of integral ecology, which does not exclude the human being, it is indispensable to integrate the value of work, so wisely developed by Saint John Paul II in his Encyclical Laborem exercens. We remember that, according to the biblical account of creation, God placed the human being in the newly created garden. Thus the workers and artisans "ensure eternal creation" In reality, human intervention that favors the prudent development of creation is the most adequate way to take care of it, because it implies acting as an instrument of God to help bring out the potential that he himself has inscribed in things: "The Lord has created medicines from the earth, the sensible man does not despise them"

If we try to think what are the adequate relationships of the human being with the world around him, the need arises for a correct conception of work, because, if we talk about the relationship of the human being with things, the question arises about the meaning and purpose of human action on reality. We are not just talking about manual work or land work, but about any activity that involves some transformation of the existing, from the elaboration of a social study to the project of a technological development.

Any form of work presupposes an idea about the relationship that the human being can or must establish with the other by himself. Christian spirituality, together with the contemplative wonder for creatures that we find in St. Francis of Assisi, has also developed a rich and healthy understanding of work,

We also gather something from the long monastic tradition. At first it favored in a certain way the escape from the world, trying to get away from urban decay. For this reason the monks sought the desert, convinced that it was the right place to recognize the presence of God. Subsequently, St. Benedict of Nursia wanted his monks to live in community, combining prayer and study with manual work (Ora et labora). This introduction of manual labor imbued with spiritual meaning proved to be revolutionary. We learned to seek maturation and sanctification in the intertwining of recollection and work. This way of living work makes us more capable of caring and respecting the environment, it imbues our relationship with the world with healthy sobriety.

Human beings man is the author, the center and the goal of all economic and social life. Nonetheless, when people lose the ability to contemplate and respect, the conditions are created for the sense of work to be distorted.

TO BE CONTINUED

Our fish fries this year were a great success. Once again we saw a great group of folks coming together last week to prepare and serve the meal for our second fish fry. We sold about 1040 dinners last week. Combined with our first fish fry, we sold 2054 fish dinners. Our gross income for both fish fries was $28,829. We were also able to give $370 to our Haiti Food Fund from the sale of left over potato salad and slaw. Look for a complete report in our May newsletter.

HELP US GET OUR CEMETERY READY FOR THE LAWN MOWING SEASON

To help us get ready for our lawn mowing season, we ask that you remove any decorations around your cemetery tombstones that might get in the way of our lawn mowing crews. Remember that flowers and plaques must be attached securely to the tombstone or flower vases. Shepherd's crooks, statues, balloons, and the like are not permitted as they are a hazard to our mowing crews.

We believe it is important for all those who are placing flowers on the graves of their loved ones to periodically check them. Thanks for your help in keeping our cemetery a place of honor and respect as well as a safe place for our lawn mowing crews.

We have five different crews. But in order for them to get the job done, they need 7-8 people per crew. Right now, several of our crew only have 5 people in the crew. We're hoping some people can step forward to offer their help. We provide all the equipment. We just need folks to help. Maybe you could be one of these people. Call the parish office (812-963-3273), or Randy Tenbarger (812-205-5139) to offer your help or for more information. You'll help our parish save money, and you'll help keep our grounds looking nice.

WE NEED ADDITIONAL HELP WITH OUR LAWN MOWING CREWS

We are also looking for two additional people who would be willing to mow the area just west of cemetery and around the storage building, using our riding lawn mower. We plan on mowing these areas every two weeks. We have a regular group of volunteers who mow the ball fields and other areas of the campus using the riding lawn mower, but this takes 3-4 hours to complete. Having additional people to mow the area around the storage building and west of the cemetery, will be a big help. Call the parish office (812-963-3273), or Randy Tenbarger (812-205-5139) to offer your help or for more information.

Special thanks to Jerry Happe who has offered his time to look after all of our mowing equipment and to Randy Tenbarger who has been helping to coordinate our mowing crews schedules.
