

Where are you in your Emmaus journey?

We strive for a relationship with Jesus, we wish he could truly be here in person with us, so that we would listen to him better, understand more, believe more deeply. However, in in Luke 24: 13-35 we read of followers of Jesus who left Jerusalem after Jesus died and rose again. These men heard him speak, followed him and yet they struggled to believe. They were afraid, they did not know what to do, they fled and were so caught up in their own sadness, disappointment and worry that they were kept from seeing the Lord when he was with them.

As we are just coming off the Easter high and continuing through the Easter Season, it would be fruitful to take a look at where we are in our own Emmaus journey. We have an opportunity to take our relationship with Jesus from wherever it is right now, and move it to the next step, to allow our eyes to be opened to him. He is there waiting for us, continually inviting us, wishing for us to be close to him.

We know that this life is hard and our faith will be tested. How will we deal with these hardships? Are we prepared enough that the test will be met with trust in the Lord? What barriers do we need to overcome in order to trust Him fully?

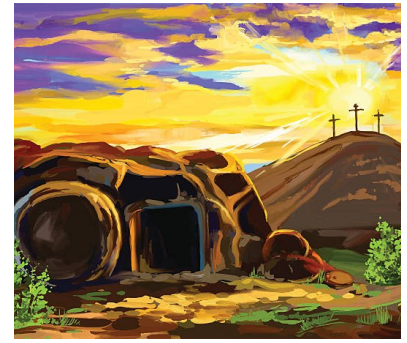

Are we open to the help needed to allow Christ to reveal himself to us? When things get complicated, who do we have in our life to help us uncomplicate things and get centered back on what is truly important?

We have a mission, the time is now, the Lord needs you. Is your heart ready to trust and travel the journey with Him?

Seven saints will be canonized by Pope Francis on May 15, 2022. Among them will be Devasahayam [Lazarus] Pillai. He will be the first Indian martyr, layman and married person to become a saint. Devasahayam was a Hindu convert to Catholicism in the 18th century. He is an example to all of courageous witness. He was martyred at age 39 after only being a Catholic for seven years. After falsely being charged with treason, he endured harsh persecution.
