Our Lady of the Black Hills exists to proclaim the joy of the Gospel to all creation and to transform lives with the Father's mercy.

Rest a while

Mk 6:31c

Last Sunday's gospel reading, we heard about Jesus sending the twelve apostles for some "on-the-job" training, doing what he was doing. In this Sunday's gospel, the apostles have returned, and are reporting all they had done and taught. And Jesus invites them to "Come away by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while."

In many respects, that is exactly what we are to be doing every week. We are out in the world, then on Sunday we take a break, come to Mass, get refreshed and renewed. But at the end of Mass, we are dismissed with one of four statements. While each is different, they all have the same purpose. And that purpose is to send us back out on mission. We are to take what we just received at the Mass and carry it out and share it with all we encounter.

I recently heard a man's story about how he came to join the Catholic Church. One of his co-workers was a younger woman. And when they would get a "talking to" about something at work, he noticed she was still joyful even though he was upset. Eventually, he had the courage to ask her why she was always in a good mood, even after some of the unpleasant things at work. And she simply started sharing her belief in Jesus Christ. She eventually started inviting him to Mass with her which in turn, eventually lead him to joining the RCIA program at her Rapid City parish.

This young woman didn't go out and start preaching about her faith and belief in words. She simply allowed her encounter with Jesus Christ, in the Word and in the Eucharist at Mass, to transform her. In being transformed, it brought her a sense of peace and joy, which was physically evident in her life.

While I know nothing else about this young woman, I am sure she talks (prays) to Jesus every day. She has developed a deep, intimate, relationship with Jesus. So, when she comes to Mass, she is ready to receive whatever Jesus wants to give to her. This in turn emboldens her to freely share her experience and the impact this relationship with Jesus had on her, with those she encounters.

When we come to Mass each weekend, we need to come with the expectation it will change us, in some small, or perhaps, big way. It may not happen every week in some perceivable what to us, but it does change us. And when we reinforce the encounter with daily prayer, daily two-way conversations with Jesus, little by little, it will transform us. Like repeated drops of water eventually wears away a rock, we need to give Jesus the same opportunity to soften our heart, to transform us, to become more and more like Jesus. So, we too can go out into our world, to be Jesus Christ to those we encounter.

Sixteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Jer 23:1-6 | Eph 2:13-18 | Mk 6:30-34

GROW AS A DISCIPLE | PRAY, STUDY, ENGAGE, SERVE

Portrayals of Jesus as a shepherd who cares for sheep often depict him carrying a sheep on his shoulders or holding a lamb in his arms. Those images are a source of great comfort, as is today's psalm: "The Lord is my shepherd; there is nothing I shall want." But they don't quite capture just what hard work being a shepherd involves: tending to the flock in all kinds of weather, when the pastures are anything but verdant; waking in the wee hours to care for ewes and newborn lambs; watching some thrive and others die; not to mention being the poster child for the oft-quoted "smell of sheep." The crowd in today's Gospel lacked such a shepherd to tend and care for them, and thus "[Jesus'] heart was moved with pity for them." There are times when circumstances and events can trick us into thinking that an earthly power or perfectly-principled worldview will save us. That is when we need the Lord as our shepherd the most. Only he can save us; only he has saved us. So, in those times when we may feel lost, we can bring it all to Jesus in prayer. He is the Shepherd who knows what we need.

GO EVANGELIZE

PRAYER, INVITATION, WITNESS, ACCOMPANIMENT

I don't know about you, but I rarely miss a meal. When I do, I get cranky. And I don't like crowds of any kind outside of Wrigley Field. So imagine how exhausted Jesus and the disciples must have felt when, because crowds followed them day and night, they had "no opportunity even to eat." Even when they tried to get away and rest awhile, a vast crowd appeared. Rather than turn away, however, Jesus began to teach them - for they were hurting and in need of his care. Today's Gospel encourages us to be shepherds to one another, keeping others close. Pope Francis said it well during Holy Week 2013: "Following Jesus means learning to come out of ourselves ... to be the first to take a step toward our brothers and our sisters, especially those who are the most distant, those who are forgotten, those who are most in need of understanding, comfort and help." As we ourselves have been led by the Shepherd, we reach out to others who are in need of care.

ACCOMPANY Find ways, large or small, to "tend the flock" of your family, parish, workplace or community: Write a note to a person who is grieving, invite a quiet co-worker to lunch, provide a listening ear to children or aging parents, introduce yourself to a newcomer at your parish.

"THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD;
THERE IS NOTHING
I SHALL WANT."
