

"Teacher, which commandment in the law is the greatest?" He said to him, "You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the greatest and the first commandment. The second is like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself. The whole law and the prophets depend on these two commandments." (Mt 22:35-40)

With Halloween coming up this week, many of us will focus on the fun aspect of the day. Kids will be dressed up in all sorts of customs, from general and quirky to scary and...., Sometimes I think the kids are dressed up the way parents would like to, but perhaps they are just a bit shy to do it. But with the major holidays coming up upon us we also take some time for a reflection. Perhaps, we ponder some deeper questions in our life. Who am I? Where do I come from? What is the history of my family? Are there any unique people, special events or dark secrets in my family? These are just few questions that we might sometimes find ourselves wondering about.

Isn't it fascinating to read about the family trees and how far back some go? How intriguing it is sometimes to listen to the older folks when they tell stories that their grandparents told them. For us it is history, for them it is a part of life and their past; a past that has shaped their identity. It is so important to know our history as it helps us to understand events that took place. As we learn from the past, we can change our environment, so we have better options today. But today would be very sad and full of troubles if we did not have in our mind the good of the future. We all want to pass on something valuable and important, something that will tell future generations that we were not selfish people, thinking only of our "own good." Who am I? The answer to this question is the basis of our life and the decisions we make.

This week, the Church celebrates the Feast of All Saints (November 01 – Holy Day of Obligation, which means that if we truly love God and each other, we will meet at the Eucharistic Celebration on Wednesday), followed by the Feast of All Souls. These two feasts help us to remember the saints from the past, our loved ones and friends we have known in our lifetime and in the past. From the saints we learn how to live up to standards put forth by God and which are presented to us in the Sermon on the Mount – the Beatitudes. From their lives we learn of their struggles and sacrifices. Through their example we find the way to hope and joy in our lives and our faith. It is the saints who help us understand today who we are as Catholics and Children of God. The lives of the saints and of our dearly beloved who have passed away help us also to look at the reasons why they were so faithful to God. It is the hope and love that they kept in their hearts, which they wished to share with us, to make our lives better and holier. We remember them in the celebration of the Feast of All Souls. But we also are called to express our identity as children of God in our own word and deed, as we are the "saints in making." It is up to you and me to pass on new resources and wisdom to help future generations answer the question, "Who am I?" Ultimately let us pray that we encounter each other and the Lord in the fullness of our life that is the Heavenly Home, where our Father is waiting for His Children – you and me.

All holy men and women, pray for us as we proclaim the Gospel with Mercy of the Father. Thank you all for helping me in discovering Who I am.

In Christ,
Fr. Andrzej

Memorial for the Unborn

The Memorial for the Unborn is located off the back patio of the Narthex and on the path to the right. Bricks can be purchased to memorialize loved ones. The focus is on the unborn, but memorials for children who've passed prior to making their First Holy Communion are welcome. Please pick up an order form for a brick from the back counter of the gathering space. Order forms can be turned into the office or to the Knights of Columbus.

SOUTH DAKOTA'S EXTREME ABORTION AMENDMENT

Frequently Asked Questions: What can be done to oppose the proposed abortion amendment?

First, if you encounter someone in a public place seeking your signature on a measure concerning abortion, do not sign it. Please be aware that petition circulators may not use accurate language to describe the measure they are promoting. The petition may be described in a benign-sounding way, for example, as a measure to “protect women’s health” or “guarantee reproductive freedom.” Do not be deceived. Read the language at the top of the petition. If it says “Title: An Initiated Amendment Establishing a Right to Abortion in the State Constitution,” then realize this is a radical proposal to create a right to abortion throughout pregnancy, and to repeal South Dakota’s laws that protect preborn children and their mothers. Stay tuned for further information about the abortion amendment.

Thirtieth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Ex 22:20-26 | 1 Thes 1:5c-10 | Mt 22:34-40

GROW AS A DISCIPLE | PRAY, STUDY, ENGAGE, SERVE

Sometimes I stop paying attention to the news for a period of time. There seems to be little that's "new" in the daily barrage of natural disasters and the countless ways we humans hurt each other. I've even stopped using social media, which at least made me smile when seeing photos of friends and family welcoming little ones or celebrating big milestones. Which brings me to today's Gospel: Sometimes it seems overwhelming to want to love as Christ commands, and I feel that there's little, if anything, I can do for people outside of my social circle, let alone on the opposite side of the world. Hearing of my struggles with compassion fatigue, a friend recently reminded me of some wise words that have been attributed to St. Mother Teresa: "Never worry about numbers. Help one person at a time and always start with the person nearest you." We love as Christ commands by willing the good of the other. And it is not trite or cliché to say at times, "honestly, all I can do right now is pray." After all, as the Lord says, "If he cries out to me, I will hear him; for I am compassionate." When our compassion is exhausted, let the Lord carry it, for he never tires. And then, when it is possible, practical, and seems to be inspired by the Holy Spirit, we can do more – whatever that may be.

GO EVANGELIZE

PRAYER, INVITATION, WITNESS, ACCOMPANIMENT

If you're like me and somewhat daunted by the second greatest commandment, I encourage you to take another look at today's readings. "You shall love your neighbor..." (emphasis added). Surely the world is far too large for us to make a difference? Therefore, remember that "God so loved the world" – and what he asks of us is to love our neighbor. So leave the world to God; pray for and give alms for those bigger world issues when we're able. When our circumstances change and we have more time and energy to take on more, such as participate in ministry, even better! But until then, when we walk out our front door in the morning, we go forth knowing that we are "imitators ... of the Lord," and that this smaller, much more manageable part of the world is what we are called to tend. Let our most active role in being the body of Christ extend to what is immediate to us – our neighbor and community – because that is where we will have the most influence for Christ in the world.

MEDITATE When you feel overwhelmed with the world, reflect upon today's responsorial psalm: "I love you, Lord, my strength." Let God's love for the world and his strength flow into your heart, and know that you can call on him to help you bear the burden of love.
