Father Prince Raja
Pastor

Christian spirituality has always insisted on the need to live this life as a clear and certain preparation for the future eternal life. The mere desire of eternal life is not sufficient but the life a person lives must show in practical ways this preparedness and the worthiness for the Kingdom of Heaven. The message given to us today is one of watchfulness and to be ready to receive the Lord. As we approach the end of the Liturgical Year, the Church seems to place these very mysteries before us. We have to be alert to the signs God gives us in our lives. When troubles overtake us, we have to build our lives on the practice of faith, hope, and love. We are called upon to keep the light burning in our lives. St. Matthew's Gospel changes the emphasis on the theme of eternal life, to stress the necessity of being awake and prepared for the Lord's coming and the definitive establishment of the Kingdom of Heaven.

The first reading of today, taken from the Book of Wisdom written about a hundred years before Christ, speaks about what the title indicates. The word wisdom has several meanings. It means going beyond mere knowledge to the depth and breadth of the mind-boggling issues of life. It means understanding and insight. It means the best way for one to relate to God and to other people. It means seeing every thought and word and deed in relation to the very purpose of life.

In the Gospel parable our Lord tells about the chosen bridesmaids had to carry lighted lamps in the bridal procession which always took place at night. All the ten came to the bride's place in good time dressed for the occasion and carrying their lamps with them. These lamps were generally small bronze or earthen vessels which held little oil, enough for a few hours. Hence, they normally carried small jars of oil to fill their lamps and to keep them burning continuously. Here Jesus points to the folly of the five young girls who took the lamp but forgot to take extra oil with them. Jesus tells the story to impress his followers of the supreme need of vigilance and watchfulness. The final advice of Jesus is very clear, to be prepared, to stay awake, because we do not know the day or the hour when we will be summoned to answer before the Lord God.

Almighty God,

You sent forth your Son as a beacon of hope for all people.

As a Teacher, He has given us the prime example of the importance of education. As disciples, we look to him for inspiration and strength.

Thank you for the many people who have dedicated their lives in service to our Catholic Schools.

Thank you for the teachers and administrators who sustain our schools.

Thank you for the parents who have given support and witness to the importance of Catholic education.

Thank you for the students who work hard to further their education. Bless all our Catholic Schools and the many people who advance our mission.

May our schools be a home for those who seek to grow in openness, faith, love, intellect and commitment to justice.

In your name, we pray. Amen.

We received word that the Parish Directories are set to ship by the end of next week. Please watch upcoming bulletins for delivery details.

During the month of November we are called to pray and make sacrifices for the Holy Souls in Purgatory. For this purpose there is a special Book of Remembrance placed in the sanctuary at every church. This book contains the names of those who died in our parishes during the past year. You are invited to write in the book the names of other family members and friends who have died. We will pray for all the souls inscribed in the Book of Remembrance throughout the month of November.

There will be a second collection next weekend for the Campaign for Human Development. Please see the insert in this week's bulletin on their program.

Do you like to bake? We are looking for volunteers to make treats for the Faith Formation program for classes on the first and last Wednesday of the month now through May 1st. Please contact the Parish Office if you would like to help.

Special thanks to the parishioners from St Felix who put the finishing touches to new plantings around our Pastor's home on Bailey Street. Kris Kruse worked with Cabbage Patch to select low-maintenance plantings and the planting crew included Dominic and Matthew Busch and Greg Riester. The project involved removal of stones, plastic and old shrubs and rebuilding the area with topsoil, fabric and mulch. Thank you to Dan Schaefer for spearheading this project!

The Finance/Budget council is studying the needed repairs at the rectory; the garage is quite dilapidated.
