

IN THOSE DAYS

Celebrating
175
Years

In the days of Pius XI (1922-1939), the laity who did what today we call ministries were said to belong to the lay apostolate. Their activities were described as “the participation of the laity in the apostolate of the hierarchy.” The inadequacy of this definition had been pointed out throughout the period leading up to the Second Vatican Council. Certainly lay people were more than “father’s helpers.” After all, they were an integral part of the Body of Christ and the primary witnesses of the gospel in the family and the workplace.

The Second Vatican Council both in the Constitution on the Church and its Decree on the Laity changed the focus. By baptism and confirmation, the people of God participate in the prophetic, priestly and leadership ministries of Christ. So, whether at home, work or in the parish, they do not do what they do as “father’s helpers” but as participants in the ministry of Christ and the church.

At St. Boniface we have been blessed with many leaders who have served the church since the Council, and they all realize that what they do is ministry. The music ministers were listed in an earlier article. Countless parishioners have ministered as catechists, grade school teachers, liturgical ministers and pastoral council members since the Council as well as in our many human concerns activities. Here we list the Christian Formation Directors, Principals, Pastoral Associates, Parish Nurses and Directors of Administration and Secretaries, Bookkeepers and Administrative Assistants and their terms.
