SMALL CHRISTIAN COMMUNITY

CYCLE C

“A New Intimacy with Christ”
A Day of Reflection presented by Deacon Jim & Pat Brogdan

The Wedding Feast at Cana (Jn 2:1-11, 2nd Sunday OT) and the Brogdan's 45 year marriage are the font for this time of reflection, discussion and song. Ordained 25 years, Deacon Jim holds a Masters degree in Pastoral Counseling and brings healing through writing, retreats, counseling and spiritual direction. Pat brings her wonderful gift of music - we “pray twice” in song.

ALL are Invited to the Wedding Feast...With Christ!

FIRST SUNDAY OF ADVENT

December 2, 2018 C

Facilitator: Let us take a minute to consciously acknowledge that we are in the presence of God and ask Him to help us to hear the word He wants us to hear this week.

Pause for a moment and then play a religious song.

Environment note: If possible, during the Advent Season, set up an advent wreath on the center table covered with purple cloth. Light the wreath before you begin.

Opening prayer: Father in heaven, our hearts desire the warmth of your love and our minds are searching for the light of your word. Increase our longing for Christ our Savior and give us the strength to grow in love, that the dawn of his coming may find us rejoicing in his presence and welcoming the light of his truth. We ask this in the name of Jesus the Lord. Amen.

Introduction to Luke

In our Liturgical Calendar, Cycle C is The Year of Luke. In its introduction to this wonderful Gospel, the authors of Living Liturgy '04 write:

While we may not know a lot about Luke, most people know a good deal about his gospel. Some of the most cherished stories about Jesus are reported by Luke: the annunciation to Mary, the birth in a manger, the disciples on the road to Emmaus. Some of the New Testament's most memorable characters are found in Luke: the diminutive but resourceful Zacchaeus, the aged and astonished Elizabeth and Zechariah, the hospitable Martha and the attentive Mary. Some of Jesus' most beloved parables—brimming with poignancy and compassion, and universal in their broad religious and humanitarian appeal—are jewels of Luke's gospel: the Good Samaritan, the prodigal son, the rich man and poor Lazarus, the Pharisee and the tax collector. The backbone of the Church's daily prayer comes from Luke's gospel: Zechariah's Canticle at Morning Prayer, Mary's Magnificat at evening prayer, and Simeon's Canticle at night prayer.

His gospel is such a treasure trove of themes that it has invited numerous nicknames, such as The Gospel of Joy, The Gospel of the Holy Spirit, of Prayer, of the Poor, among others. Other obvious themes include warnings against wealth; frequent meals with sinners; inclusion of women; and concern for tax collectors, lepers, and outcasts. Luke's portrait of Jesus is perhaps the most beloved and easily approachable of all the gospels. Luke's Jesus is the embodiment of divine compassion. Indeed, Luke's portrayal of Jesus is at the heart of his proclamation of the "good news."

Response to last week's word: [Facilitator briefly recalls last week's Gospel.] Let us spend a few minutes sharing how the word we heard God speak to us last week has unfolded in our lives during the week.

Facilitator: The purpose of Advent is to prepare us to celebrate Jesus's birth. The first reading during the Advent Season takes us back to Old Testament times, when Israel looked forward to the coming of the Messiah. Jesus is the one who fulfills all of the messianic prophecies. Today's first reading says that the longed-for Messiah will come from the stock of David. The focus of the Gospel is the Second Coming of Jesus. The early Christians believe that the Second Coming is near and will be preceded by cosmic signs. The disciples are urged to wait in prayer and vigilance. In the second reading, Paul shows his people how to prepare for Christ's Second Coming.

Let us listen to God's word to hear what it is He wants to say to us in these readings today. As you hear a word, you may want to underline it or write it down to remember.

Read the first reading, the psalm and the second reading, pausing briefly after each one.

FIRST READING: Jeremiah 33:14-16

Commenting on this reading, the authors of Living the Word (2004) write:

When you hear a storyteller start out, “Once upon a time...” you realize that what follows is most likely a fictional account (even if, at times, the tale may be based on some historical realities). In much the same way, the Bible often has “code words” that signal what kind of passage we are dealing with. Today’s first reading from the prophet Jeremiah begins, “The days are coming, says the Lord....” For any student of the Bible, this phrase clearly signals that what follows is a messianic prophecy, a passage looking deep into the future, attempting to describe the indescribable: what it will be like when the Messiah finally comes and sets things right in the world. Originally spoken as words of consolation to exiles in Babylon, urging them not to give up hope in the restoration of the Davidic dynasty promised long ago, this passage assumed over time much larger proportions as a guarantee that Israel would never be abandoned completely by God, no matter what the fortunes of its kings or other rulers might be at any given time in its history.

Jerusalem, a city whose name means “foundation of peace,” is given here a new name: “The Lord Our Justice.” Implied in this is the premise that the city will have peace when justice is achieved. Recall the famous words of Pope Paul VI: “If you want peace, work for justice.”

RESPONSORIAL PSALM 25

In this psalm, we ask God to teach us his ways.

SECOND READING: 1Thessalonians 3:12-4:2

We have a “wish prayer” and an exhortation to a community who believes that the Second Coming of Christ is imminent. Paul prays that the Thessalonians “grow in love” for each other in preparation for the Second Coming or return of Jesus. He urges them to “conduct themselves in a way pleasing to God.”

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOSPEL: Luke 21:25-28, 34-36

As we listen to this first reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our minds for the content.

A participant reads the Gospel,
then all pause to reflect.

As we listen to this second reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our hearts to what Jesus is saying to us.

Be aware of what draws us in and what part of the Gospel might be a challenge to embrace. You may want to underline or write down the word you hear.

A participant reads the Gospel again,
then all pause to reflect.

GOSPEL COMMENTARY: Luke 21:25-28, 34-36

Let us now read the Gospel commentary privately, underlining anything that strikes us.

Chapter 21 in Luke’s Gospel speaks about the destruction of the Temple, the fall of Jerusalem, and the end of the world – all terrifying events.

Jesus speaks about the coming of the Son of Man (at the end of the world). Using apocalyptic (“veiled”) language, Jesus presents images of both cosmic and political upheaval (“seas and waves roaring,” “nations in anguish”) to speak about this event. The unrighteous will be terrified by these events, but faithful disciples of Jesus need not fear, for the coming of the Son of Man will signal their deliverance and salvation.

Jesus exhorts his followers to “be on guard,” lest they fall into self-indulgence and forget God and his ways. There will be a day of reckoning for all people. The Gospel ends with an exhortation to pray and watch all that they say and do in the context of the Gospel. In other words, “What would Jesus say or do in this situation?” For the faithful disciple, the coming of the Son of Man will not be a fearful event. Rather, it will be a day of triumph and joy.

Having given the participants time to read the commentary, move into the faith-sharing questions.

FAITH-SHARING QUESTIONS

1. Turn to the person next to you and share what verse in the Gospel caught your attention. Why?

The facilitator can decide which is more helpful: to share the next questions with the whole group, or to share in smaller groups of three or four.

2. In the Gospel, Jesus speaks about pretty awful signs that will occur prior to his return. What is currently going on in our world (or Church) that can cause you to be frightened?

3. What can cause you or us to become spiritually drowsy?

4. The weeks prior to Christmas can become very focused on shopping. What can help you to be spiritually vigilant and keep your eyes fixed on Jesus –‘the reason for the season’?

5. What is the one thing Jesus is saying to us in this Sunday’s Gospel about how a disciple should speak or act?

sccspacecoast@gmail.com

JOURNALING: Having listened to God’s word and to others’ reflections on it, take a quiet moment to reflect on what you are hearing God say to you. Your response will be what you bring to Eucharist on Sunday, asking Jesus to help you respond as He asks of you. When ready, jot down your reflections.

RESPONDING TO THE WORD

Share with the person next to you one possible way you can act on any of the readings. Suggestions: commit to awakening from spiritual drowsiness by using an Advent devotional; work hard to not allow the material side of the season pull you away from the spiritual aspect.

SHARED PRAYER ON THE READINGS

At this time, you are invited to spend a brief time in shared prayer flowing from today’s readings. For example: “Jesus, increase my love for you and for the people in my life, especially for the people I find it hard to like or love.” “Jesus save me from all forms of spiritual drowsiness.”

CONCLUDE WITH PRAYERS OF THANKSGIVING, PETITION AND INTERCESSION

FACILITATOR: Let us now conclude with prayers of thanksgiving, petition and intercession. What are we grateful for? For what and for whom do we wish to pray?

CLOSING PRAYER (together)

Lord, awaken us to your love and grant us your salvation, so we might bring new life to our world by what we say and do. Bless this new year of grace, and may our call to holiness alert the world to your transforming power.

SECOND SUNDAY OF ADVENT

December 9, 2018 C

Facilitator: Let us take a minute to consciously acknowledge that we are in the presence of God and ask Him to help us to hear the word He wants us to hear this week.

Pause for a moment and then play a religious song.

Environment note: If possible, during the Advent Season, set up an advent wreath on the center table covered with purple cloth. Light the wreath before you begin.

Opening prayer: God of mercy, we gather together as sons and daughters of your promise. You gave us the prophets to show us how to hope in days of mourning. You gave us John the Baptist as a signpost to Jesus. You gave us Jesus that all the peoples of the earth might see the salvation of God. As we gather today, open our hearts to hear your word so that it can teach us and transform us in the true spirit of this season. This we pray through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Response to last week's word: [Facilitator briefly recalls last week's Gospel.] Let us spend a few minutes sharing how the word we heard God speak to us last week has unfolded in our lives during the week.

Facilitator: In the first reading, Jerusalem is told to take off her "clothes of mourning" because God is coming to liberate her children from exile. In the second reading, Paul, writing from prison, expresses his gratitude to the Philippians for helping him to spread the message of Christ. In the Gospel, John the Baptist calls his hearers to repentance so that they can receive the gift of salvation offered by God through Jesus.

Let us listen to God's word to hear what it is He wants to say to us in these readings today. As you hear a word, you may want to underline it or write it down to remember.

Read the first reading, the psalm and the second reading, pausing briefly after each one.

FIRST READING: Baruch 5:1-9

The passage we read today from Baruch has been described by Scripture scholars as a kind of a "digest" of the second part of the Book of Isaiah. In the reading, God, through his prophet, speaks a comforting word to Jerusalem as she mourns for her children who have been taken into exile. Jerusalem, imaged as a grieving mother, is told to remove her "mourning clothes" and replace them with "happy clothes that speak of splendor and rejoicing." She is exhorted "to stand up upon the heights" and prepare for the return of the exiles who will be led home by God.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM 126

These verses express very powerfully the joy of the returning exiles.

SECOND READING: Philippians 1:4-6, 8-11

Paul is writing from prison to a community that he loves very much. In his absence, they have done a fine job of promoting the Gospel. Paul prays that they may continue to grow in love and that they "may learn to value the things that really matter."

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOSPEL: Luke 3:1-6

As we listen to this first reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our minds for the content.

A participant reads the Gospel,
then all pause to reflect.

As we listen to this second reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our hearts to what Jesus is saying to us. Be aware of what draws us in and what part of the Gospel might be a challenge to embrace. You may want to underline or write down the word you hear.

A participant reads the Gospel again,
then all pause to reflect.

GOSPEL COMMENTARY: Luke 3:1-6

Let us now read the Gospel commentary privately, underlining anything that strikes us.

Luke places John's call in a historical context by naming certain places and personalities. Some of these personalities will oppose Jesus and his ministry.

John's call comes to him in the desert, the place where God formed and purified Israel many centuries earlier. He then proclaims "a baptism of repentance" which will lead to forgiveness of sins. True repentance involves a complete change of heart, a turning away from sinful attitudes and behaviors and a turning toward God and his ways. This change of heart is symbolized by a ritual cleansing in the waters of the Jordan. The confession of sin leads to forgiveness of sin.

John uses the words of an earlier prophet, Isaiah, to challenge the people. Commenting on the words of Isaiah, Scripture scholar Patricia Sanchez says:

“Mountains” of egoism should be leveled. “Hills” of preconceived ideas as to who and what the Savior should be and do must yield in order to welcome the unexpected surprises of God. “Crooked,” “winding,” and manipulating attitudes and behavior must bow to the truth of God’s ways.

Having given the participants time to read the commentary, move into the faith-sharing questions.

FAITH-SHARING QUESTIONS

1. Turn to the person next to you and share what verse in the Gospel caught your attention. Why?

The facilitator can decide which is more helpful: to share the next questions with the whole group, or to share in smaller groups of three or four.

2. Have you ever worn a “robe of mourning” and what helped you to work through the pain and transform it into good?

3. Who are the John the Baptists in our world or in your life today? Who are those people who point you by word or deed to Jesus and his ways?

4. Name one or more voices that are crying out in the wilderness today—prophetic voices that are not being heard—and share how you can respond. Example: voices on protection of the environment and the life of the unborn child.

5. Name one thing Jesus or Paul is saying to us today on how a disciple should speak or act.

JOURNALING: Having listened to God’s word and listened to others reflections on it, take a quiet moment to reflect on what you are hearing God say to you. Your response will be what you bring to Eucharist on Sunday, asking Jesus to help you respond as He asks of you. When ready, jot down your reflections.

RESPONDING TO THE WORD

Share with the person next to you one way you can act on this week’s readings. Suggestion: Paul prays “that our love may increase.” See how your love can increase during this Advent season.

SHARED PRAYER ON THE READINGS

Let us now pause to see how something(s) said in the reading might lead us into shared prayer. Suggestions: “Lord, I pray for all those wearing the sad clothes of mourning at this time.” “Lord, help me to be like John the Baptist, someone who points others to Christ.”

CONCLUDE WITH PRAYERS OF THANKSGIVING, PETITION AND INTERCESSION

FACILITATOR: Let us now conclude with prayers of thanksgiving, petition and intercession. What are we grateful for? For what and for whom do we wish to pray?

CLOSING PRAYER (together)

God who comes, help us hear your call to prepare for you to come into our lives. May this holy season set our hearts afire with the desire to put on the garments of truth and loving kindness so your light and love may come more fully into our world.

THIRD SUNDAY OF ADVENT
GAUDETE SUNDAY
December 16, 2018 C

Facilitator: Let us take a minute to consciously acknowledge that we are in the presence of God and ask Him to help us to hear the word He wants us to hear this week.

Pause for a moment and then play a religious song.

Environment note: If possible, during the Advent Season, set up an advent wreath on the center table covered with purple cloth. Light the wreath before you begin.

Opening prayer: Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, ever faithful to your promises and ever close to our Church, the earth rejoices in hope of the Savior's coming and looks forward with longing to his return at the end of time. Prepare our hearts and remove the sadness that hinders us from feeling the joy and hope which his presence will bestow. For he is Lord forever and ever. Amen.

Response to last week's word: [Facilitator briefly recalls last week's Gospel.] Let us spend a few minutes sharing how the word we heard God speak to us last week has unfolded in our lives during the week.

Facilitator: Traditionally, the third Sunday of Advent is called Gaudete ("Let us rejoice!") Sunday, we are rejoicing because our salvation is near at hand. A spirit of joy pervades the first and second readings as well as the psalm. In the Gospel, John responds very concretely to people who ask him: "What must we do?"

Let us listen to God's word to hear what it is He wants to say to us in these readings today. As you hear a word, you may want to underline it or write it down to remember.

Read the first reading, the psalm and the second reading pausing briefly after each one.

FIRST READING: Zephaniah 3:14-18

Zephaniah is a "gloom and doom" book addressed to all who are not attentive to God's call. Today's passage is an exception. It is addressed to a small group of Israelites who have remained loyal to their covenant with God in tough times. "Zion" is another name for Jerusalem who is called to "shout for joy." God, their mighty Savior, is in their midst to deliver them from their misfortunes.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM: Isaiah 12:1-5

The psalm response continues the theme of joy. Because God is in Israel's midst, there is nothing to fear.

SECOND READING: Philippians 4:4-7

Paul is in prison and is writing to a community with problems from within and without. Despite all this, he is joyful and he urges the Philippians to rejoice. The joy that Paul advocates is not superficial but one that flows from a life deeply rooted in Christ which cannot be taken away when earthly things are removed from our lives.

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOSPEL: Luke 3:10-18

As we listen to this first reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our minds for the content.

A participant reads the Gospel,
then all pause to reflect.

As we listen to this second reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our hearts to what Jesus is saying to us. Be aware of what draws us in and what part of the Gospel might be a challenge to embrace. You may want to underline or write down the word you hear.

A participant reads the Gospel again,
then all pause to reflect.

GOSPEL COMMENTARY: Luke 3:10-18

Let us now read the Gospel commentary privately, underlining anything that strikes us.

In the verses prior to today's Gospel, John has been issuing a strong call to repentance as the way to prepare for the coming of the Messiah. Some in the crowds open their hearts to John's message and ask him three times: "What must we do?" Although John himself lives an austere life removed from the ordinary pursuits of people, he does not ask his inquirers to dissociate themselves from their own lives or occupations. Rather, he challenges them to "bloom where they are planted,” carrying out their daily responsibilities with concern for others, and to live with honesty and integrity. All of the Baptist’s instructions are relational in nature. “Do what you can to relate to others in a fair and just way.” John is very concrete in his responses. He tells one group: “Share your extras.” He tells tax collectors: “Be just and fair.” He tells the soldiers: “Quit bullying people” and “Don’t give false witness.”

Part two of today’s Gospel seeks to clarify the confusion about John’s identity. John is not the Messiah. His role is to prepare people for the coming of the Messiah. He is a signpost pointing people to Jesus. He seeks to help his listeners to convert their desires into appropriate and authentic words and works.

As you will see in his response, John, the fiery preacher, shows himself to be remarkably practical. He speaks of the “winnowing fan” (a tool for separating wheat from chaff) that Jesus will use to clear his threshing floor. The last verses are intended to scare the hardhearted who see no need for repentance. But for those who are making a reasonable effort to turn their lives entirely over to God (a lifetime task), there is no reason to fear.

Having given the participants time to read the commentary, move into the faith-sharing questions.

FAITH-SHARING QUESTIONS

1. Turn to the person next to you and share what verse in the Gospel caught your attention. Why?

The facilitator can decide which is more helpful: to share the next questions with the whole group, or to share in smaller groups of three or four.

2. If you asked John the Baptist what you must do this Advent to become a better Christian, what might his answer be?

3. What gives you joy? What steals your joy?

4. St. Thomas Aquinas once said: “No one can live without joy. That is why one deprived of spiritual joys must turn to carnal joys.” Comment.

5. What might help you to live a more (Christian) joyful life?

JOURNALING: Having listened to God’s word and listened to others reflections on it, take a quiet moment to reflect on what you are hearing God say to you. Your response will be what you bring to Eucharist on Sunday, asking Jesus to help you respond as He asks of you. When ready, jot down your reflections.

RESPONDING TO THE WORD

Share with the person next to you one way you can act on this week’s readings. Suggestion: Paul prays “that our love may increase.” Work at naming the things that block you from enjoying life and try hard not to allow small things to rob you of joy. If you have not been to the Sacrament of Reconciliation this Advent, plan to go and begin to prepare by asking the Holy Spirit to show you where there is sin in your life. See how your love can increase during this Advent season.

SHARED PRAYER ON THE READINGS

Let us now pause to see how something(s) said in the reading might lead us into shared prayer. Suggestions: “Lord, I pray that I can always acknowledge your presence and in that find my joy.” “Lord, please show me what I should do to love you more.”

CONCLUDE WITH PRAYERS OF THANKSGIVING, PETITION AND INTERCESSION

FACILITATOR: Let us now conclude with prayers of thanksgiving, petition and intercession. What are we grateful for? For what and for whom do we wish to pray?

CLOSING PRAYER (together)

O God, who created all things and who sent Jesus to be with us until the end of our days, hear our prayer this day that we may know the joy of the risen Lord. Give us an awareness that the Lord is indeed near, and send the peace that surpasses all understanding into our hearts.

FOURTH SUNDAY OF ADVENT

December 23, 2018 C

Facilitator: Let us take a minute to consciously acknowledge that we are in the presence of God and ask Him to help us to hear the word He wants us to hear this week.

Pause for a moment and then play a religious song.

Environment note: If possible, during the Advent Season, set up an advent wreath on the center table covered with purple cloth. Light the wreath before you begin.

Opening prayer: (Take a moment to become aware of God's presence. Then together say the following prayer or some other prayer of your choice.) Father, your eternal Word took flesh on earth when Mary placed her life at the service of your plan. Help us to open our whole being to you so that your word may also take flesh in us. This we pray through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Response to last week's word: [Facilitator briefly recalls last week's Gospel.] Let us spend a few minutes sharing how the word we heard God speak to us last week has unfolded in our lives during the week.

Facilitator: "Elizabeth's question 'Who am I?' underscores the surprising wisdom of God who seems to choose the least likely people (in the Gospel: Mary and Elizabeth), the least likely places (in the first reading: Bethlehem; in the second reading: human flesh) and the least likely methods (in the second reading: Jesus' sacrifice) in order to give his people his saving presence." (Patricia Sanchez)

Let us listen to God's word to hear what it is He wants to say to us in these readings today. As you hear a word, you may want to underline it or write it down to remember.

Read the first reading, the psalm and the second reading pausing briefly after each one.

FIRST READING: Micah 5:1-4

Speaking to a people who have turned away from God, Micah paints a hopeful picture of a future era when God will raise up a good and faithful King-Shepherd. Like his ancestor, David, he will come from humble origins—Bethlehem (also called Ephrathah). The Messiah King, empowered by God, will shepherd and lead his people in strength. Because of him, Israel's time of suffering and separation from God will come to an end.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM 80

This is the prayer of a beleaguered people asking for deliverance.

SECOND READING: Hebrews 10:5-10

We are reminded of the connection between Bethlehem and Golgotha, the connection between Jesus' birth and his sacrificial death. The central passion of Jesus' life is doing the will of his Father. In and through his obedience, we are saved and united with God.

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOSPEL: Luke 1:39-45

As we listen to this first reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our minds for the content.

A participant reads the Gospel,
then all pause to reflect.

As we listen to this second reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our hearts to what Jesus is saying to us. Be aware of what draws us in and what part of the Gospel might be a challenge to embrace. You may want to underline or write down the word you hear.

A participant reads the Gospel again,
then all pause to reflect.

GOSPEL COMMENTARY: Luke 1:39-45

Let us now read the Gospel commentary privately underlining anything that strikes us.

Just as the small and otherwise obscure village of Bethlehem seems an unlikely place to host the promised Messiah, so also are Mary and Elizabeth unlikely candidates to witness his presence in such a special way. As women of poor means, their election by God would have been looked upon by people of that time as extraordinary and unusual.

Both Mary and Elizabeth experience miraculous conceptions. Mary conceives by the power of the Holy Spirit, and Elizabeth conceives in her old age. Thus, they have much to talk about. In their precious time together, they celebrate the awesome deeds of God in their lives.

Inspired by the Holy Spirit, Elizabeth eulogizes Mary and her child. She calls Mary “blessed” for two reasons: she has been chosen to be the Mother of the Lord, and she has placed her trust in the Word of God. Elizabeth, like her son, humbles herself before her much younger cousin. Even before his birth, Jesus’ presence is “good news” and a cause for joy.

In its Advent context, the reading inspires awe for the mystery of Christ’s coming in the flesh. Who is this woman to be greeted in this way? Who is the child in her womb that even before his birth inspired prophetic utterances? Mary’s greatness is her fidelity to God’s Word and her cooperation with his plan.

Having given the participants time to read the commentary, move into the faith-sharing questions.

FAITH-SHARING QUESTIONS

1. Turn to the person next to you and share what verse in the Gospel caught your attention. Why?

The facilitator can decide which is more helpful: to share the next questions with the whole group, or to share in smaller groups of three or four.

2. God asked a lot of Mary and Elizabeth. Can you give an example of where God asked a lot of you (or a member of your family)?

3. God made Elizabeth fruitful (meaning useful to God) in her old age. How might this speak to the older members of your parish?

4. 2000 years ago, God used an unlikely place (Bethlehem), unlikely people (poor women) and unlikely methods to carry forward his plan. Can you think of modern day examples?

5. How has your Advent been?

6. Name one thing today’s Gospel says to us that we disciples of Jesus need to heed and act on.

JOURNALING: Having listened to God’s word and listened to others reflections on it, take a quiet moment to reflect on what you are hearing God say to you.

Your response will be what you bring to Eucharist on Sunday, asking Jesus to help you respond as He asks of you. When ready, jot down your reflections.

RESPONDING TO THE WORD

Share with the person next to you one way you can act on this week’s readings. Suggestions: Help an elderly person to see how she, like Elizabeth, can be fruitful in her old age. Offer the second decade of the Joyful Mysteries of the Rosary, The Visitation, for pregnant women, especially those considering abortion, and for couples longing to have a child. Live the Christmas spirit by reaching out to someone in need.

SHARED PRAYER ON THE READINGS

Let us now pause to see how something(s) said in the reading might lead us into shared prayer. Suggestion: “Lord, I lift up all women currently carrying a baby in their womb, especially women for whom the pregnancy is unexpected and difficult.”

CONCLUDE WITH PRAYERS OF THANKSGIVING, PETITION AND INTERCESSION

FACILITATOR: Let us now conclude with prayers of thanksgiving, petition and intercession. What are we grateful for? For what and for whom do we wish to pray?

CLOSING PRAYER (together)

Beloved God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, help us in these final hours of Advent to set aside anything that prevents us from entering into the joy befitting the birth of your Son. Send us that same Spirit that came upon Elizabeth, filling her heart and soul with such great joy.

FEAST OF THE HOLY FAMILY OF JESUS, MARY & JOSEPH

December 30, 2018 C

Facilitator: Let us take a minute to consciously acknowledge that we are in the presence of God and ask Him to help us to hear the word He wants us to hear this week.

Pause for a moment and then play a religious song.

Opening prayer: Father, help us to live as the Holy Family, united in respect and love. Bring us to the joy and peace of your eternal home. Grant this through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God forever and ever. Amen.

Response to last week's word: [Facilitator briefly recalls last week's Gospel.] Let us spend a few minutes sharing how the word we heard God speak to us last week has unfolded in our lives during the week.

Facilitator: Were we to forget its placement in the cycle of feasts that make up the Christmas season, the feast of the Holy Family could easily be looked upon as little more than a pious devotion focused on an unattainable ideal. Nevertheless, this feast is about the mystery of the Incarnation, the firm conviction we hold that Jesus is both Son of God, fully divine, and Son of Mary, fully human, and that mystery has saving implications for each of us. Today's readings remind us of how fully human are the origins of that mystery, rooted in families willing to make God's will first in their lives.

Let us listen to God's word to hear what it is He wants to say to us in these readings today. As you hear a word, you may want to underline it or write it down to remember.

Read the first reading, the psalm and the second reading pausing briefly after each one.

FIRST READING: 1Samuel 1:20-22, 24-28

Commenting on this text, the authors of the Living Word (2004) write:

The author of the first Book of Samuel wanted to show his audience the many ways that God was guiding the fortunes of the Jewish people throughout their history. He also wished to show how important it was that the people be prepared to submit to the Lord's will for them. In this particular cycle of stories, the figures of Hannah and her husband, Elkanah, are held up as exemplary because of their willingness to give to the Lord a child destined to be a chosen instrument of his. The piety of the couple is evident in the sacrifice they make: giving to the Lord's service their longed-for child. Subsequent stories of the exploits of Samuel reveal just how significant their sacrifice was to be in God's plan. This text is clearly in the background of Luke's infancy narrative, in which he describes how the parents of Jesus have to make a similar sacrifice of their son in order for God's plan to unfold in Jesus' life. Like Hannah and Elkanah, Mary and Joseph cannot grasp the full significance of the role their son is destined to play in God's plan. Nonetheless, their piety leads them to obedience, even though "they did not understand." (Luke 2:50)

RESPONSORIAL PSALM 84

This psalm speaks about the beauty of dwelling in the house of the Lord.

SECOND READING: 1John 3:1-2, 21-24

This reading speaks about our adoption into the household of God. As children of God, we are called to keep God's commandments.

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOSPEL: Luke 2:41-52

As we listen to this first reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our minds for the content.

A participant reads the Gospel,
then all pause to reflect.

As we listen to this second reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our hearts to what Jesus is saying to us. Be aware of what draws us in and what part of the Gospel might be a challenge to embrace. You may want to underline or write down the word you hear.

A participant reads the Gospel again,
then all pause to reflect.

GOSPEL COMMENTARY: Luke 2:41-52

Let us now read the Gospel commentary privately underlining anything that strikes us.

The key element of this story is Jesus' declaration that he must be in his "Father's house." When Mary and Joseph find their lost child, Mary questions Jesus why he has done this to them. Jesus' response is one of surprise. Mary's reference to Joseph as "your father" is paralleled with Jesus' reference to God as "my Father, and therein lies the main point in this story—Jesus' response signals:

- his single-minded devotion to his heavenly Father
- how his devotion to his heavenly Father will transcend his love and devotion to his earthly parents

Yet in this story, Jesus shows himself faithful to both. In doing what he did in the Temple, he was obeying God, but then we are told he goes home with his parents to Nazareth and is obedient to them. Obedience is in fact an underlying theme in this Gospel. Four times in this passage, Luke says that the actions of Mary, Joseph and Jesus are carried out in accord with the law.

On a lighter side, we can say that this story shows us that even in the best of families, things can go wrong. Perhaps, we could say that Joseph and Mary should have been more vigilant of their young son, or that Jesus should have told his parents where he was.

Having given the participants time to read the commentary, move into the faith-sharing questions.

FAITH-SHARING QUESTIONS

1. Turn to the person next to you and share what verse in the Gospel caught your attention. Why?

The facilitator can decide which is more helpful: to share the next questions with the whole group, or to share in smaller groups of three or four.

2. When Joseph and Mary find Jesus, she says to him: "Son, why have you done this to us. Your father and I have been looking for you with great anxiety." The feeling of anxiety is not a pleasant one. What causes you anxiety these days? What helps you deal with anxiety?

3. The commentary speaks about Jesus as being obedient to both God and parents. What helps you to walk in obedience in God's word?

4. What are some ingredients of a holy family? What are blocks and obstacles to becoming a holy family?

5. Name one thing today's Gospel says to us that we disciples of Jesus need to heed and act on.

JOURNALING: Having listened to God's word and listened to others reflections on it, take a quiet moment to reflect on what you are hearing God say to you. Your response will be what you bring to Eucharist on Sunday, asking Jesus to help you respond as He asks of you. When ready, jot down your reflections.

RESPONDING TO THE WORD

Share with the person next to you one way you can act on this week's readings. Some suggestions: If there is a family member with whom you are distant, call or write to him/her. Pray often for your family if you don't already do so. Reach out to a neighbor who lives alone and has very few friends.

SHARED PRAYER ON THE READINGS

Let us now pause to see how something(s) said in the reading might lead us into shared prayer. Suggestions: "Lord, please help me to see my family and all families—no matter their configuration—as holy." "Lord, help us to seek your will and be obedient in all things."

CONCLUDE WITH PRAYERS OF THANKSGIVING, PETITION AND INTERCESSION

FACILITATOR: Let us now conclude with prayers of thanksgiving, petition and intercession. What are we grateful for? For what and for whom do we wish to pray?

CLOSING PRAYER (together)

Loving Father, you have created all who have ever lived in your image and likeness. Help us to recognize all others as our brothers and sisters and to honor, respect, forgive, and love them as your children. Together, enable us to bring your peace and justice, healing and reconciliation to our world.

EPIPHANY OF THE LORD

January 6, 2019 ABC

Facilitator: Let us take a minute to consciously acknowledge that we are in the presence of God and ask Him to help us to hear the word He wants us to hear this week.

Pause for a moment and then play a religious song.

Opening prayer: O Light of Lights, you showed forth the light of God's love to all nations. In your coming, God's saving love is revealed from east to west. You have made us co-heirs and sharers in the promise of salvation. Illuminate our minds and hearts with your love. May we, like the Magi, always seek and search for you. Enlighten us as we contemplate your word today. We pray in your light and in your love. Amen.

Response to last week's word: [Facilitator briefly recalls last week's Gospel.] Let us spend a few minutes sharing how the word we heard God speak to us last week has unfolded in our lives during the week.

Facilitator: Epiphany means manifestation. On this Sunday, the Church invites us to celebrate God's universal plan to save all people – Gentiles as well as Jews.

Let us listen to God's word to hear what it is He wants to say to us in these readings today. As you hear a word, you may want to underline it or write it down to remember.

Read the first reading, the psalm and the second reading pausing briefly after each one.

FIRST READING: Isaiah 60:1-6

Jerusalem's days of darkness are over (a reference to Israel's time in exile). God is about to bring a New Dawn to Israel. So great will this new light be that all the Nations (a reference to the Gentiles) will be drawn to the city bearing all kinds of gifts. This prophecy will be fulfilled when Jesus invites all people to come into his light. The Magi are the first Gentiles to respond to Jesus' invitation.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM 72

"Lord, every nation on earth will adore you," speaks of God's universal plan to save all people, thereby connecting this psalm to the overall theme of this Sunday's readings.

SECOND READING: Ephesians 3:2-3, 5-6

Paul's message about his special mission to bring the Good News to the Gentiles connects this reading with the general theme of the day. Jesus reveals to Paul and the Apostles that the total equality of Jews and Gentiles figures in God's plan of salvation.

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOSPEL: Matthew 2:1-12

As we listen to this first reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our minds for the content.

A participant reads the Gospel,
then all pause to reflect.

As we listen to this second reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our hearts to what Jesus is saying to us. Be aware of what draws us in and what part of the Gospel might be a challenge to embrace. You may want to underline or write down the word you hear.

A participant reads the Gospel again,
then all pause to reflect.

GOSPEL COMMENTARY: Matthew 2:1-12

Let us now read the Gospel commentary privately underlining anything that strikes us.

The Gospel is the fulfillment of the first reading, which speaks of all the nations streaming to Jerusalem bearing gifts for the new King. The Magi represent the non-Jewish world who are seekers of God in their own way. The Magi's journey to Bethlehem in search of the new King is symbolic of the journey all seekers must take. Thus, Epiphany is not only a feast on which we celebrate God's manifestation of himself to the Gentile world, but also our movement toward God.

When Matthew is writing his Gospel in 80 AD, his own people have almost totally rejected Jesus while large groups of Gentiles are accepting him. This rejection/acceptance dynamic is present in today's Gospel. While Herod's plot to kill Jesus symbolizes Israel's rejection of Jesus, the Magi's acceptance of Jesus symbolizes the Gentiles' movement toward Jesus. This rejection/acceptance dynamic will be played out many times in Matthew's Gospel. While the Pharisees will close their hearts to Jesus, the Gentiles will open their hearts to him.

Having given the participants time to read the commentary, move into the faith-sharing questions.

FAITH-SHARING QUESTIONS

1. Turn to the person next to you and share what verse in the Gospel caught your attention. Why?

The facilitator can decide which is more helpful: to share the next questions with the whole group, or to share in smaller groups of three or four.

2. The Magi were on a journey searching for someone. Share something of your search for a deeper relationship with Christ and the Church?

3. Living the Epiphany event involves being a light for others. Who has been a big Light for you in your journey? What are ways you can be a Christ-Light for others?

4. In the Gospel, the Magi were on a search for the newborn King. At this time in your life, what are you searching for?

5. What is Jesus saying to you this Sunday about how a faithful disciple should act?

JOURNALING: Having listened to God's word and listened to others reflections on it, take a quiet moment to reflect on what you are hearing God say to you. Your response will be what you bring to Eucharist on Sunday, asking Jesus to help you respond as He asks of you. When ready, jot down your reflections.

RESPONDING TO THE WORD

Share with the person next to you one way you can act on this week's readings. Suggestions: What is one thing you can do or change to be a brighter light for Christ? Name one person you can be the light of Christ for in word or deed.

SHARED PRAYER ON THE READINGS

Let us now pause to see how something(s) said in the reading might lead us into shared prayer. Suggestions: "Lord, this week give me many opportunities to share your light and help me to do it generously, eagerly and well."

CONCLUDE WITH PRAYERS OF THANKSGIVING, PETITION AND INTERCESSION

FACILITATOR: Let us now conclude with prayers of thanksgiving, petition and intercession. What are we grateful for? For what and for whom do we wish to pray?

CLOSING PRAYER (together)

Lord Jesus, you continue to come into the world as light that pushes back the darkness. Continue to enlighten our minds and hearts, opening them to receive you in whatever way you come to us. Help us to find you in our daily lives by removing whatever prevents our seeing your light.

Reflection

*When the song of the angels is stilled
When the star
in the sky is gone
When the kings and princes are home
When shepherds are back with their flocks
The work of Christmas begins:
To find the lost
To heal the broken
To feed the hungry
To release the captives
To rebuild nations
To bring peace among peoples
To make music in the heart.*

BAPTISM OF THE LORD

January 13, 2019 C

Facilitator: Let us take a minute to consciously acknowledge that we are in the presence of God and ask Him to help us to hear the word He wants us to hear this week.

Pause for a moment and then play a religious song.

Opening prayer: God our Creator, you offered your servant Jesus as Savior to all humankind. His coming among us opened our eyes to the light of justice, peace and salvation. By the river Jordan you anointed Jesus to carry out his mission. Anoint us now with your Holy Spirit so that we can hear the word you are speaking to us. This we pray through Christ Our Lord. Amen.

Response to last week's word: [Facilitator briefly recalls last week's gospel.] Let us spend a few minutes sharing how the word we heard God speak to us last week has unfolded in our lives during the week.

Facilitator: This feast celebrates Jesus as the anointed servant of God, the One who comforts people and proclaims God's Word (first reading), the One who came to save us out of mercy. This feast is a bridge between the end of the Christmas season and the beginning of Ordinary Time.

Let us listen to God's word to hear what it is He wants to say to us in these readings today. As you hear a word, you may want to underline it or write it down to remember.

Read the first reading, the psalm and the second reading pausing briefly after each one.

FIRST READING: Isaiah 40:1-5, 9-11

These verses are taken from the beginning of the second book of Isaiah (chapters 40-55), often called Deutero-Isaiah. In these chapters, the author is addressing the Israelite exiles towards the end of their time in Babylon.

The reading begins with words of comfort and tenderness for a people who spent 70 years in exile from their homeland. The exiles are directed to act out their deliverance even before they see evidence of it. They are to image a great highway on which they will travel home and to remove any obstacles that might block God's coming.

In verses 9-11, a second directive is given to the people living in Jerusalem. Their city is broken and depleted, and they are told to announce to the other vanquished cities of Judah that a new time is coming when God, like a good shepherd, is going to show a new concern for his flock.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM 104

This psalm is a hymn of praise to God the Creator whose power and wisdom are manifested in the visible universe.

SECOND READING: Titus 2:11-14; 3:4-7

This reading has two parts: 2:11-14 and 3:4-7. In 2:11-14, Paul speaks about the grace of God that has come to us through the coming of Christ, a grace that enables us to reject pagan or ungodly ways and the grace to follow the ways of Jesus.

In 3:4-7, Paul reminds Titus and all Christians that their current status as a new people is totally the result of God's mercy and the gift of the Holy Spirit.

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOSPEL: Luke 3:15-16, 21-22

As we listen to this first reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our minds for the content.

A participant reads the Gospel,
then all pause to reflect.

As we listen to this second reading of the Gospel, let us listen with our hearts to what Jesus is saying to us. Be aware of what draws us in and what part of the Gospel might be a challenge to embrace. You may want to underline or write down the word you hear.

A participant reads the Gospel again,
then all pause to reflect.

GOSPEL COMMENTARY: Luke 3:15-16, 21-22

Let us now read the Gospel commentary privately underlining anything that strikes us.

GOSPEL: Luke 3:15-16, 21-22

Luke places Jesus' baptism before the start of his public ministry to identify Jesus as the chosen servant foretold by Isaiah (first reading).

Luke's account of Jesus' baptism is striking in that it underplays the actual water event at the hand of John. Instead, it highlights the prayer of Jesus, the descent of the Spirit, and the heavenly voice proclaiming Jesus as God's beloved Son.

The Gospel has two distinct but related events. In the first, John disavows that he is Christ. People may have thought that John was the Messiah because Jesus submitted to him for baptism. The second event reports the extraordinary circumstances that followed Jesus' own baptism by John. The two incidents are connected by reference to the Holy Spirit.

Luke always presents Jesus as praying before making major decisions. It's no surprise then that we find him praying during his baptism. In response to his prayer, the Holy Spirit descends on him in visible form (as a dove) at the beginning of his mission, just as the Spirit will come in visible form on the apostles at Pentecost at the beginning of their mission. The Father's voice puts the seal of divine approval on Jesus and on the mission he is about to begin.

This Spirit will empower Jesus (and his followers) to do the works of God, i.e., to preach with authority, heal the sick, cast out demons, and obey God to the point of death.

Having given the participants time to read the commentary, move into the faith-sharing questions.

FAITH-SHARING QUESTIONS

1. Turn to the person next to you and share what verse in the Gospel caught your attention. Why?

The facilitator can decide which is more helpful: to share the next questions with the whole group, or to share in smaller groups of three or four.

2. The first reading begins with the words: "Comfort, give comfort to my people." What comforts you in painful and difficult times? How can you be a comforting presence to others?

3. In the Gospel, the "people were filled with expectation" of the Christ. What is an expectant faith and what are some steps we can take to acquire it?

4. All of the baptized have been baptized with the Holy Spirit at their Baptism. Some have received a fresh outpouring of the Holy Spirit through their involvement in the Charismatic Renewal. What role does the Holy Spirit play in your spiritual life?

5. What is Jesus saying to you this Sunday about how a faithful disciple should act?

JOURNALING: Having listened to God's word and listened to others reflections on it, take a quiet moment to reflect on what you are hearing God say to you. Your response will be what you bring to Eucharist on Sunday, asking Jesus to help you respond as He asks of you. When ready, jot down your reflections.

RESPONDING TO THE WORD

Share with the person next to you one way you can act on this week's readings. Suggestions: Name someone you can comfort and how. Commit to praying for a new outpouring of the Holy Spirit.

SHARED PRAYER ON THE READINGS

Let us now pause to see how something(s) said in the reading might lead us into shared prayer. Suggestions: "Lord, you know I need your comfort and mercy, please help me to experience it." "Lord, I pray for a fresh outpouring of your Holy Spirit. Please help me to be open and respond affirmatively."

CONCLUDE WITH PRAYERS OF THANKSGIVING, PETITION AND INTERCESSION

FACILITATOR: Let us now conclude with prayers of thanksgiving, petition and intercession. What are we grateful for? For what and for whom do we wish to pray?

CLOSING PRAYER (together)

*Breather in me, O Holy Spirit, that my thoughts may all be holy.
Act in me, O Holy Spirit, that my work, too, may be holy.
Draw my heart, O Holy Spirit, that I love but what is holy.
Strengthen me, O Holy Spirit, to defend all that is holy.
Guard me, than, O Holy Spirit, that I always may be holy.
Amen.*
