6 Easy ways to pray if you're spiritually tired in 2026

Cerith Gardiner - published on 01/14/26

If prayer feels hard right now, these simple ways can help you stay close to God — even on tired days.

Let's be honest: not every season of life feels particularly prayerful. You might believe in God deeply and still feel distracted, dry, rushed, or simply worn out. And as 2026 begins, many people are carrying quiet fatigue — from the pace of life, from worry about the world, from personal struggles no one else sees.

So if prayer feels hard right now, you're not failing. You're human. And the good news is this: Prayer isn't reserved for moments when you feel holy, calm, or inspired. In fact, some of the most honest prayer begins precisely when you don't feel spiritual at all.

Here are a few gentle ways to pray in 2026 — even when your heart feels tired or distant:

1 Start where you are, not where you think you should be

Prayer doesn't require the right mood or perfect words. You don't need to "get yourself together" before turning to God. If all you can manage is, "I'm exhausted," or "I don't know what I'm doing," that's already prayer.

God meets you in your reality, not your performance.

2 Keep it short — really short

When life is busy or overwhelming, long prayers can feel impossible. That's okay. A simple phrase repeated throughout the day can be enough:

"Lord, be with me."

"Jesus, I trust you."

"Help me."

These brief prayers slip into the cracks of daily life — while driving, folding laundry, waiting in line — and gently keep your heart turned toward God.

3 Let silence count as prayer

You don't always need words. Sometimes prayer is simply sitting in God's presence, even if your mind wanders. Silence is not empty; it's an act of trust.

If all you can do is sit quietly for a minute and breathe, believing God is near, that still matters. Silence allows God to work beneath the surface — even when you don't feel anything happening.

4 Borrow the words of others

On days when your own words fail, let someone else pray for you. Scripture, the Psalms, the Our Father, or familiar prayers can carry you when your faith feels thin.

You don't have to invent prayer. You're allowed to lean on the Church's wisdom — especially when you feel weak.

5 Pray with your body

Prayer doesn't only happen in your head. Light a candle. Make the sign of the cross slowly. Walk quietly. Sit in a church, even briefly. Physical gestures can ground prayer when thoughts are scattered.

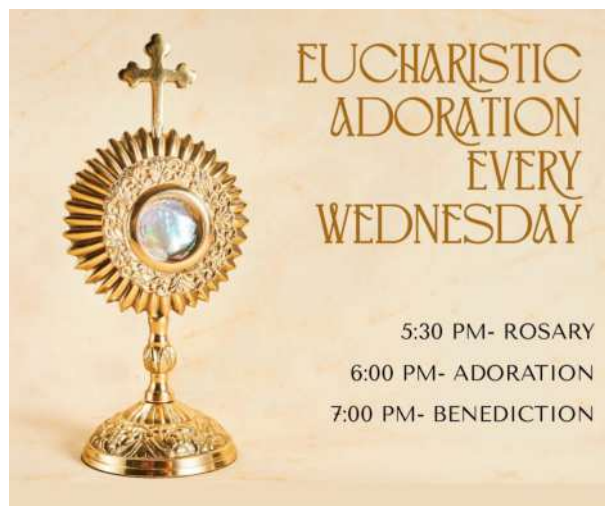

Sometimes your body leads your heart back to God before your emotions catch up.

6 Be patient with dryness

Not feeling spiritual doesn't mean God is distant. Often, it means your faith is deepening in ways you can't yet see. Dry seasons are not failures — they're invitations to trust without reassurance. And remember, faith that stays even when feelings fade is strong faith.

As 2026 unfolds, remember this: prayer is not about feeling close to God every moment. It's about choosing to turn toward Him — again and again — exactly as you are. Even tired prayer counts. In fact, especially tired prayer. And sometimes, that's the prayer God uses most.

GROW AS A DISCIPLE | PRAY, STUDY, ENGAGE, SERVE

“Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.” For most of my life, any time I have heard these words of Jesus, the emphasis has always been on “Repent.” Recently, I’ve started to pay more attention to the second half of Jesus’ proclamation: “The kingdom of heaven is at hand.” Through his coming into our world and the beginning of his public ministry, Jesus’ reign has begun. The signs of his kingdom’s arrival are striking and immediate; we see Jesus “curing every disease and illness among the people.” This is cause for great rejoicing, like the rejoicing we hear of in today’s reading from Isaiah: “Anguish has taken wing, dispelled is darkness ... upon those who dwelt in the land of gloom a light has shown.” Jesus’ miracles reveal that the reign of darkness, sin, and death is coming to an end; this is good news, indeed! It’s also a major part of our call as disciples. We’re called to pray (“thy kingdom come”) and to work to advance Jesus’ reign on earth.

GO EVANGELIZE

PRAYER, INVITATION, WITNESS, ACCOMPANIMENT

Like the Apostles Peter, Andrew, James, and John in today’s Gospel, we, too, have been called to help build God’s kingdom on earth. We do this in a particular way by continuing the works of Jesus here on earth. As Pope Leo XIV reminds us in Dilexi Te, “The signs that accompany Jesus’ preaching are manifestations of the love and compassion with which God looks upon the sick, the poor and sinners ... The Church, if she wants to be Christ’s Church, must be ... a place where the poor have a privileged place.” (21) Part of the way we bear witness to the inbreaking of God’s kingdom on earth is to put those who are ill and marginalized at the center of our concern. Then the kingdom of God will be manifest and visible in the world, drawing others to Christ.

SERVE

This week, spend some time researching ways you can work with other Christians to serve the sick and the poor of our world. As we conclude this Week of Prayer for Christian Unity (which ends Jan. 25, 2026), there’s no better witness we can offer to the dawn of the kingdom of God than being “united in the same mind and in the same purpose” (as Paul calls us to be today) in serving those in need.

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP - RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

Drop Your Nets and Be Free

There are times I wish I had no obligations. It would be great to take my wife's hand, hop in the car, and drive into the sunset. Where we were going would not matter as much as the fact that we would have nowhere we had to be. There would be nothing we had to do. No bills. No commitments. No problems. Freedom!

Life doesn't work like that, however. When Jesus came along and asked some fishermen to drop their nets and follow him, they did just that. Wow! In some ways, they experienced true freedom. That is what Jesus offers all of us. Yet, true freedom looks quite different than my dream scenario.

In living in the true freedom that Jesus offers, there are things we must do and places we must go. That is because freedom only exists in following God's will, not our own. We are called to be and called to give ourselves completely to God without reservations. We always have the free will to not respond to His call, but we will find that a negative answer may complicate our lives even further. God's path for us calls on us to give freely of what we have been given. Saying no to that call means we carry the weight of those gifts. We were never meant to keep them. The path of God's will may seem long and winding, but it is the one that leads us into that sunset. It is the way to true freedom.
